MEET THE EAGLES

2012 REVIEW

Even though thunderstorms shortened the groundbreaking ceremony, nothing could dampen the mood for the start of a new era at Georgia Southern University. On June 5th, 2013, shovels met sand to signal the start of construction of a new Football Operations Center and seat expansion at Paulson Stadium.

University President Brooks Keel connecting this summer's groundbreaking to the origins of Eagle Football program. Student Government Association Vice President for Finance Ellen Hogan, on behalf of the Georgia Southern student body, emphasized the student-centeredness of University and thanked President Keel, campus administration, faculty and staff, for the opportunity to vote to make the move to the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) and expansion project possible.

Director of Athletics Tom Kleinlein shared some of the significant games in Paulson Stadium history, including in his comments, fittingly, a reference to the Hugo Bowl, the game that was played just 180 miles from the eye of Hurricane Hugo in 1989. Georgia Southern University Foundation President John Mulherin reiterated that the journey is just beginning and the groundbreaking ceremony was one of the first milestones in a series of many to come.

"This is a day that will really truly go down in history," said President Brooks Keel after the event. "The opportunities that this presents to the University are truly incredible. This puts us on a national stage, which is where Georgia Southern needs to be."

With raindrops beginning to fall with greater frequency, University System of Georgia Regent Lori Durden, Vice President for Business and Finance Rob Whitaker, Eagle Football Coach Jeff Monken, and members of the Georgia Southern Athletic Steering Committee Mike Sanders, Mel McBride, Anthony Tippins, and Tim Evans, who will also serve as general contractor on the projects joined the platform party for the . Connecting the past to the future, Coach Jeff Monken used the same shovel that Coach Erk Russell used for the groundbreaking of Allen E. Paulson Stadium in April 1983.

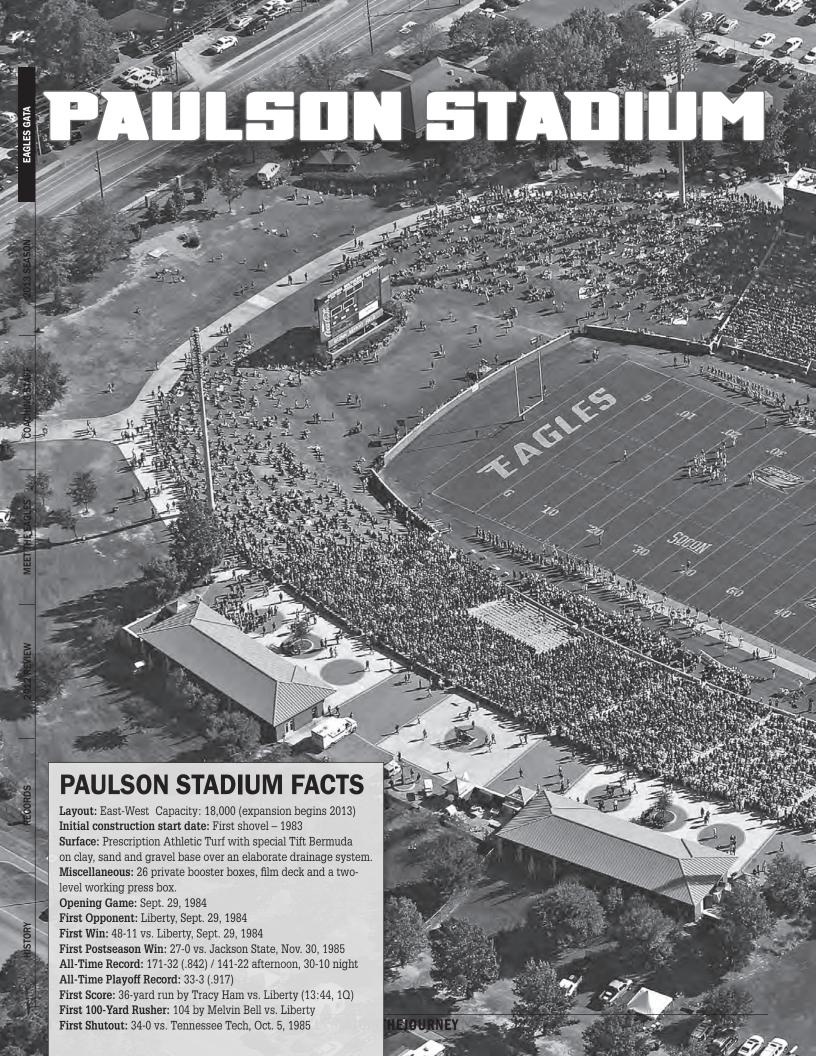

"These two projects will be the stepping stones for the future of Georgia Southern Athletics," Director of Athletics Tom Kleinlein said. "Our goal, in the next five to 10 years, is to take us from a regional brand of university to a national brand of university and these facilities in athletics will help us."

Scheduled for completion in mid-2014, the $10 million privately funded Football Operations Center will house coaches' offices, team meeting rooms, a video production suite, locker rooms, strength & conditioning space, rehabilitation center, equipment room, and football Hall of Fame within its 50,000 square feet.

LANIER DRIVE SIDE

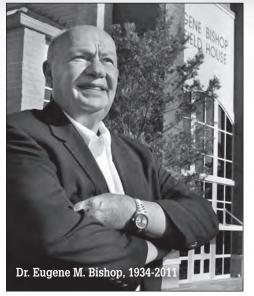

Expansion of the north stands of Paulson Stadium will include more than 6,000 additional seats with on-grade seating expanded by approximately 1,500 new seats and 4,500 added with the construction of an upper deck. With this student-fee funded expansion, seating capacity at Paulson Stadium will exceed 21,000 permanent seats. Construction of this $10 million project is scheduled for completion in May 2014.

Video of the ceremony may be viewed online here: http://youtu.be/WbeTefxcImM and daily construction progress at ringsanddiplomas.com.

ENE BISHOP FIELD HOUSE

Thanks to the generous contribution from the late Gene Bishop, Georgia Southern University finished construction on the Bishop Field House in the west end zone at Paulson Stadium prior to the start of the 2006 football season.

Bishop passed away in March of 2011, but left behind a legacy at Georgia Southern. The former Athletic Foundation Chairman of the Board was a part of Eagle Nation for more than 20 years and his loyalty to the University and athletics department provided for two showcase landmarks on campus - the Gene Bishop Field House and the Eugene M. Bishop Alumni Center.

The Gene Bishop Field House House measures 13,600 total square feet and currently > includes: team game day locker rooms, game day training room, meeting and hospitality spaces. With current configuration for the home locker room can accommodate 90 players while the visitor locker room has space for 75 players.

Around 400 members socialize in the Field House prior to home football games. The Field House can be reserved for meetings, socials or luncheons and has been the site for numerous events, including recent Georgia Southern Athletics Hall of Fame induction ceremonies.

With his generous contributions, Bishop holds the distinction as the single largest contributor to the Georgia Southern Athletics Department and is one of the largest contributors to the University.

The Eugene M. Bishop Alumni Center opened summer of 2009 on Akins Boulevard, just a short distance from Erk Russell Athletic Park and the epicenter of gameday Saturdays.

In 2003 the Southern Conference began the Distinguished Service Award program to recognize individuals who have made a great impact on their respective conference institution. Dr. Bishop was the first from Georgia Southern to receive the award.

Announced in spring 2013, the Georgia Southern Athletic Foundation is providing additional premium seating with the creation of the Bishop Club at Paulson Stadium, an exclusive, members-only venue to entertain guests and clients on game day. Two hundred new chairback seats are being installed outdoors with guests able to enjoy the atmosphere indoors or out, heavy hors d'oeuvres, beverages and soft drinks during the game as well as entry to pre-game festitivities. For more information about the Bishop Club and donation requirements. contact the Athletic Foundation at (912) 478-5520.

DAN 1. PARRISH, SR. FOOTBALL CENTER

The home for the Georgia Southern Football Coaching staff, the Dan J. Parrish, Sr. Football Center, completed in November 2000, was among the first new facilities on a list of impressive additions for Georgia Southern Athletics. The nearly 12,000-square foot building is located between Hanner Fieldhouse and the practice fields.

The Parrish Center houses 10 coaches' offices, staff meeting rooms, team meeting rooms, staff locker room, the state-of-the-art XOS video system, memorabilia from past championships, pictorial displays commemorating All-Conference and All-America honorees, reception and recruiting areas, and, of course, the Eagles' six national championship trophies.

The hallways of the Parrish Center are lined with All-America honors and images of former Eagle greats in action. Located near the team meeting room is a tribute to Coack Russell, the father of Georgia Southern Football, which includes some of his personal coaching items, photographs, cigar boxes and other rare items.

STUDENT-ATHLETE SERVICES / NCAA COMPLIANCE

Cone Hall is the home to the Academic Enhancement Center in the Office of Student-Athlete Services. The former mid-century residence hall was completely refurbished to provide individual and group study areas, a computer lab, meeting rooms for tutorial work, a lecture room, conference room and offices for support staff.

In the past three years, Georgia Southern Football has recorded its highest-ever grade point averages as a program with its highest-ever GPA during the 2011-2012 academic year. For fall 2012, the Eagles posted their highest in-season GPA following a program-best single-semester GPA of 2.70 during spring 2012. That 2012 spring term, 49 Football student-athletes had GPAs of 3.0 or better and this past fall, 42 student-athletes achieved a 3.0 or above GPA.

Twenty-seven Football Eagles were honored on the Southern Conference Academic Honor Roll for the 2012-13 year with nine earning the Commissioner's Medal.

ATHLETIC TRAINING

Partnering with one of the top athletic training programs in the nation at Georgia Southern University, student-athletes receive excellent care and attention both on the field and off.

Georgia Southern Sports Medicine provides optimal care for student-athletes as they prepare for practice and competition. Full-time and graduate assistant athletic trainers work with all Eagle teams during their competition seasons and off-season workouts to prevent and rehabilitate injuries.

The Athletic Training room features state-of-the-art equipment for the treatment and rehabilitation of injuries. The facility incorporates the latest advances and resources in sports medicine as staff constantly research technology to benefit the student-athlete. A complete hydra-therapy area and a large collection of student-athlete treatment stations are housed in the main training area with locations at practice facilities as well. A separate rehabilitation room provides specialized care for sessions specific to the treatment of injuries and for post-surgery recovery.

In 2013, Georgia Southern steps to the front of both safety and technology as the Eagles will employ the Sideline Response System (SRS) in conjunction with the Head Impact Telemetry System (HITS). This patented technology by Riddell records the frequency and severity of impacts received by a player during games and practices allowing for easy and accurate sideline monitoring of on-field impacts.

FATHER OF GEORGIA SOUTHERN FOOTBALL

Early in 1981, the decision to begin a football program at Georgia Southern had been finalized with an exciting, but unsure future ahead.

A mid-spring day in 1981 changed all that, when Erskine "Erk" Russell called college President Dale Lick from a payphone to let him know that he would come to Statesboro. Conversations had taken place on numerous occasions, but Russell had a lot to think about. He was comfortable in Athens, about to begin his 18th season as the defensive coordinator at Georgia, but he was looking for a new challenge.

On May 23rd, 1981, with more than 500 fans and members of the media gathered in Hanner Fieldhouse, Georgia Southern Football announced its new head coach and Russell put the Eagles on course to become one of the elite teams in its division.

On September 8, 2006, legendary coach Erk Russell passed away. His death touched not only Georgia Southern University and the Coastal Empire, but reverberated throughout the state and entire college football nation. Arguably one of the best known people, even long past his retirement from coaching, in the state of Georgia, coach Russell was loved and respected by all.

The day before he passed away coach Russell spoke for nearly an hour to the Eagles, passing along stories and advice on not only football but life. That was typical of the 'Father of Georgia Southern Football.' He touched the lives of many, not only his players but fellow coaches and members of the community who were on hand during the ceremony celebrating his life at, where else, but Paulson Stadium.

Erk Russell's spirit lives on across the Georgia Southern campus. His vision of what could be continues to inspire the university today, as do the morals and ethics he instilled in his players and his positive impact on the community. His motto of 'Do Right' are words that will be ever linked to his legacy. In the fall of 2012, it was announced that two Georgia Southern graduates would produce a feature film about Coach Russell.

Since leading the Eagle football team to its third NCAA Division I-AA national championship and retiring from coaching in December, 1989, Russell gave all he could to Georgia Southern. Whether assuming chairmanship of the university's capital campaign or dousing the baseball team bus with Eagle Creek Water before its departure for the College World Series, Russell was an active and visible booster of GSU and its programs.

As a coach, Russell saved the best for last. He entered the 1989 season as America's winningest coach, orchestrator of two national championships, 68 wins and 14 All-America selections - during a seven-year period.

In the ensuing 105 days, Southern ascended to the top spot in the NCAA I-AA football poll and Russell smoked 15 victory cigars. Erk's Eagles extended Division I's longest home win streak from 26 to 37 games. Strong safety Randell Boone, free safety Taz Dixon and offensive guard Sean Gainey raised Russell's All-America count to 17. Georgia Southern gained distinction as the first 15-0 college team of that century.

Russell's final record at Georgia Southern is a remarkable 83-22-1 (.788). After the Eagles moved to Division I-AA in 1984, he fashioned a 70-14 (.825) mark. Russell averaged 10.4 wins per season.

When Georgia Southern brought football back in 1981 it looked to Russell, long-time defensive coordinator at Georgia. Russell's first Eagle team, comprised entirely of walkon players, fashioned a 7-3-1 record in 1982. The next year Southern went 6-5, with four of the losses by five points or less. In 1984 the Eagles entered Division I-AA and went 8-3, narrowly missing a national playoff berth. Then came consecutive 13-2 seasons and back-to-back national championships, a I-AA first. With true freshman Raymond Gross at quarterback, the Eagles advanced to the national quarterfinals in 1987 before finishing 9-4. In 1988, Southern made its third championship game appearance in four seasons, falling to Furman 17-12 in Pocatello, Idaho.

Russell, who developed a reputation as one of college football's great defensive coordinators at Georgia, put together an extraordinary offense for the Eagles. His 1986 squad led the nation in scoring (41.3 points per game), total offense (501.8 yards per game), and rushing offense (327.1). Georgia Southern was unstoppable in the playoffs during the 1986 season, averaging 50.7 points. His last Eagle team won the national rushing championship (329.2 yards per game). Southern was among the top five teams nationally in both scoring (12.1 points) and total defense (255.9 yards) while allowing only 133 points, a school-record, and holding two opponents scoreless.

During his 17 years at Georgia, Russell molded some of the country's finest defensive teams and his Junkyard Dogs became synonymous with Bulldog football. In 1967 Georgia led the Southeastern Conference in total defense and scoring defense. The next year Georgia topped the SEC in total defense and led the nation in scoring defense, yielding just 9.8 points per contest. In 1971, Russell's group paced the country in shutouts and finished among the nation's Top 10 in rushing defense, total defense and scoring defense. The '78 Bulldogs finished a point behind national champion Alabama in scoring defense. UGA's '79 defense forced 49 takeaways, the national high.

A native of Birmingham, Ala., Russell held a bachelor's and master's degrees from Auburn. He played football, basketball, baseball and tennis for the Tigers, earning 10 varsity letters. Russell was the last four-sport letterman in Auburn history.

Married to Erk for 57 years, Jean Russell passed away in September 2008. The couple is survived by their two sons, Rusty and Jay.

Among the magnolias and classic Southern red brick buildings, you will find relaxing parks, lakes and the Pedestrium, a walkway that stretches through the heart of the more than 900-acre campus. During the past decade. almost $300 million in construction and renovation projects have been completed, including state-of-the-art classroom and recreation facilities, dining halls and a number of modern apartment-style residence halls like the upscale housing at Centennial Place, which includes Cold Stone Creamery, Einstein Bros. Bagel restaurant and more. The University recently celebrated the opening of the new $41 million Biological Sciences Building and began an expansion at Allen E. Paulson Stadium, that includes the addition of 6,200 seats as well as a privately funded $10 million state-ofthe-art Football Operations Center.

As a Carnegie Doctoral/Research University, Georgia Southern's hallmarks focus on teaching, an increasing emphasis on research and a studentcentered approach that give the University the feel of a much smaller private college. Students are at the center of everything Georgia Southern does, and the University has created an environment where students can thrive. learn and prepare for their future.

From the moment students step on campus, they are immediately challenged by the academic curriculum, while also having the opportunity to take part in an incredible amount of activities that rival larger universities. The University Honors Program attracts high-achieving students and the Office of Student Leadership and Civic Engagement encourages students to make leadership a part of their college resumes. Students are engaged in community volunteerism, campus theatre productions, academic organizations and recreational athletics, just to name a few of the opportunities offered in this well-rounded collegiate atmosphere. In fact, the University was recently named to the 2013 President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll, recognizing the completion of nearly 369,000 hours of service by Georgia Southern students during the past academic year.

The University has received recent national recognition from Forbes magazine, The Princeton Review and U.S. News & World Report, setting Georgia Southern apart from its peers. Georgia Southern has once again been recognized as one of America's Best Colleges. The University's online graduate programs in business, education and computer information technology as well as the online bachelor's program were also ranked among the best in the nation.

As a center for learning and discovery, Georgia Southern also provides unique opportunities through its public outreach facilities - the Garden of the Coastal Plain, the Georgia Southern Museum, the Center for Wildlife Education and Lamar Q Ball, Jr. Raptor Center, the Nessmith-Lane Conference Center and the Performing Arts Center.

Every day, someone, somewhere in the world is touched by the work of a Georgia Southern student, alumnus, staff or faculty member - making the reach of this University truly global. With more than 70,000 alumni, the Eagle Nation features a strong network that continues to grow with each graduating class. Dan Cathy, President and COO of Chick-fil-A, country music star Luke Bryan, former Metlife Principal of the Year Molly Howard, business and healthcare professionals, professional athletes and more are all graduates of Georgia Southern. No matter the field, the University is increasingly becoming the first choice for the next generation of leaders.

GOALS FOR EAGLES ARE STILL THE SAME: WIN EVERY GAMEGeorgia Southern heads into first transition year in 2013

IF Coach Jeff Monken had a dollar for every time he has been asked, "What do the Eagles have to play for in 2013?" he would be a rich man, and he doesn't even have to change his answer.

"Plenty," Monken says.

"It's the same as any other year. We want to win every game. The expectation at Georgia Southern, when we line up to play football games, is that we're supposed to win, and that doesn't change just because we aren't eligible for postseason play. That's irrelevant. When we play for Georgia Southern, there's a lot to play for. It's pretty matter of fact.

"I was disappointed when I found out we couldn't play in the postseason, but as I analyze it, what's important? What's important is each game, and preparing for each game, and being the best that you can be. We're promised 11 games. That's all we're focusing on, and it really doesn't move away from the philosophy we've had since I've been here: and that's to try to be the best team each Saturday."

On that quest, the Eagles return 17 starters and 47 lettermen for 2013 with seven starters each back on offense and defense. Four of the five linemen on offense, and players like Jerick McKinnon, Dominique Swope, Johnathan Bryant, and Zach Walker can bring the Eagle Nation to its feet with spectacular plays on that side of the ball. While the big plays are exciting, the effectiveness of the triple option offense delivers consistent results.

The combination of Georgia Southern's potent offense and a dominating defense has contributed to the program's success with at least 10 wins in each of the last three seasons. On defense, the Eagles must replace four key defenders, three of whom will likely play on Sundays, as Monken and the coaching staff are counting on returning veterans to step into leadership roles. Opportunities exist for underclassmen and newcomers to have immediate impact as well.

QUARTERBACKS

A Walter Payton Award candidate, McKinnon put his own mark on the quarterback position in 2012, taking over the starting role after four games. Nearing 3,000 career rushing yards, McKinnon has played a number of roles for Georgia Southern, but running and distributing the ball suits him and the Eagles well. Last season, the talented, versatile athlete totaled 1,817 rushing yards, the third-highest single-season total in Georgia Southern history behind only legends Adrian Peterson (1,932, 1998) and Jayson Foster (1,844, 2007), scoring 20 touchdowns and throwing for another seven.

McKinnon led the Eagles six times in rushing and had a hand in 30 of the 63 plays of 25 yards or more. His 316-yard performance against Central Arkansas set the record for most rushing yards in a single game by a quarterback, breaking Foster's mark, and was just shy of Peterson's 333-yard record vs. UMass. The Marietta, Ga., native missed most of spring nursing an injury sustained in morning workouts, but returned for last few spring practices. His absence was a mixed blessing for Georgia Southern. While he missed the chance to refine his skills as the signalcaller for the triple option, freshmen backups Kevin Ellison and Vegas Harley received more than their fair share of repetitions which will benefit the Eagles. Ellison came out of the spring in the number-two spot.

"We have a desire to have more than just a guy or two at quarterback," Monken states. "We'd really like to keep a guy in each class we feel like is capable of being our quarterback, and we're working toward that. We've got Jerick, who is just a tremendous talent. He's really provided great leadership for our team last year, and in the summer offseason, and he takes that very seriously. Kevin and Vegas, who both redshirted last year, both of those guys have a chance to be really good players. Kevin had a really good spring and he's probably ahead of Vegas right now, but Vegas is certainly talented and has the ability."

Walter Payton Award candidate Jerick McKinnon ranked third on the Eagles' single-season list for his 1,817 rushing yards in 2012, behind only Adrian Peterson (1,932 in 1998) and Jayson Foster (1,844 in 2007), both former Payton Award winners.

In addition to McKinnon, Ellison and Harley, true freshman Alfred Ramsby, the Cincinnati Enquirer Player of the Year, and transfer Favian Upshaw join the Eagles this fall.

RUNNING BACKS

Add junior Dominique Swope's 1,246 rushing yards to the McKinnon's total from 2012 and Georgia Southern reclaimed one of its past NCAA records. The two combined for 3,063 yards, surpassing the NCAA mark set in 2011 for most yards gained in a season by two teammates. The tandem powered the Eagles with 36 rushing touchdowns and a single-season rushing record total of 5,591 yards. Swope became the first to run for consecutive 1,000-yard seasons since Jermaine Austin in 2002-03.

While Swope and McKinnon were sidelined this spring, seniors William Banks and Johnathan Bryant made the most of their opportunities. Bryant, the lone veteran listed at the T-Back position, didn't miss a single session on the banks of "Beautiful Eagle Creek." He finished the 2012 season third in both rushing yards (506, 2TDs) and receiving yards (197), with the second-highest per-catch average at 28.1 yards. Not only will Bryant be counted on for moving the ball, but also for his blocking ability. He totaled 10 knockdowns against Samford and his block made possible Darreion Robinson's 20-yard touchdown against Chattanooga in the first overtime period. Depth will come from junior Ezayi Youyoute and possibly from true freshmen.

Banks, who is listed behind Swope at B-Back, played in critical situations for the Eagles last year, scoring a career-best three touchdowns against Appalachian State and making key plays in the Old Dominion win. Help could possibly come from Brandan Thomas, who put in time at every running back position this spring and yet-untested underclassmen, like Nardo Govan, or true freshmen, who could also make an impact.

McKinnon, Bryant and Robert Brown, who will not participate this fall after being medically disqualified, each took a turn at A-Back before Darreion Robinson made that position his own. Junior Tray Butler played in 13 games a year ago after playing in all 15 with two starts as a true freshman at wide receiver.

"Dominique is such a hard runner, a tough runner," said Monken about Swope. "He is really the kind of player we need in this offense in that position. There are some guys kind of clipping his heels who really want to play and have some experience. Will is going to be a fifth-year senior, a really tough kid who has earned a scholarship and was forced to play quite a bit. We've got some young guys, too, Irv (Huggins), who took the majority of the reps this spring for us and he has the tools to be a good player. Ean (Days), he's struggled with injury since he's been here and we hope he can get healthy so we see what he can do."

True freshmen in the recent past have made big contributions – both Brown and Swope had 1,000-yard rushing seasons in their first years, so the precedent is already set. Monken notes that Chris Jordan, who rushed for over 2,000 yards his senior year at Thomson, and Cam Lewis are two true freshmen who have good prospects to give the Eagles depth in the backfield.

OFFENSIVE LINE

Every player listed at the top of the 2013 preseason depth chart, four juniors and a sophomore, had significant game experience in 2012 as the Eagles have built a formidable offensive line. Georgia Southern's ninth NCAA rushing title is attributed directly to the effectiveness of the "hawgs" as they cleared the way for a Division I best 399.4 rushing yards per game. Four of the top six single-game rushing totals recorded in 2012 belonged to Georgia Southern, including the nation's top total of 614 yards.

Only one starter from that 2012 team, Blake DeBartola, the versatile veteran, is gone. Garrett Frye started all 14 games at right tackle and earned third team All-America recognition from "We want to win every game.

The expectation at Georgia Southern,
when we line up to play football games,
is that we're supposed to win...
When we play for Georgia Southern, there's a lot to play for."

— Eagle Head Coach Jeff Monken —

the Associated Press and the Sports Network. The junior has already been tabbed for 2013 preseason honors. Frye moves to left tackle so the Eagles can take advantage of his range and pass protection abilities with junior Raymond Klugey and senior Dorian Byrd shifting to the right side. Byrd has 29 starts on the line with Klugey seeing time in 11 games with one start in 2012. Sophomore Maurice Hunt will back up Frye.

The anchor of the offensive line, sophomore starter Manrey Saint-Amour, returns at center to provide the Eagles with more than continuity. Sophomore Cole Peeples, who normally plays at the guard spot, moved over to help out at center during the spring and is listed as the backup to Saint-Amour. Juniors Trevor McBurnett and Logan Daves split the majority of the snaps at the guard spots last season with senior Zach Lonas making two starts. Sophomore Darien Foreman, whose progress was hindered by an injury in his first year, is expected to contribute as a backup at the guard position.

"We have four juniors and a sophomore slated to start on the offensive line and Dorian, one of our seniors, is slugging it out for a starting spot," Monken said. "We probably have more guys who have played in football games on the offensive line since I've been here. They may not have as many starts as the group that returned for 2011, but we have a lot of guys who have seen considerable game action, and I think that's good for us."

TIGHT ENDS

Establishing the strength of the tight end position, literally and figuratively, will give Georgia Southern even more versatility. With the graduation of Tyler Sumner, the youth will have a chance to prove itself in 2013. Sophomore Cody Rediger saw action in nine games last fall and redshirt freshman Da'Quan Heard follows in Sumner's footsteps as a converted wide receiver and can possibly play both positions. Wilson Hudgins, who has helped prepare the Eagle defense as a member of the scout team, saw action in one game in his sophomore year.

WIDE RECEIVERS

Patrick Barker and Mitchell Williford were mainstays at the wide receiver spot with a combined 100 games played over the last four years, models of consistency for Georgia Southern. Moving up on the depth chart to the starters roles are Zach Walker, best known for his acrobatic mid-air catches, and B.J. Johnson. Johnson earned his spot with a solid spring and the combination of his strength and ability to pull the ball out of flight. Walker tallied 343 receiving yards and had three of the Eagles' nine touchdown receptions in 2012. Junior Kentrellis Showers, who had the most receptions with 10 last season, good for two touchdowns, and redshirt freshman Montay Crockett occupy the number-two spots on the depth chart for the position.

"We want to get the ball in the hands of our players who have an opportunity to do something special with it -- to gain yards for us, to score touchdowns," Monken said. "We all saw what Zach did: the great catches he made, he has terrific hands to make plays, and B.J., went through spring ball with us, and continues to mature. He really did a nice job and is strong and a physical player. Montay was a scout team wide receiver for us last fall and has tremendous athletic skills, he's quick, and has good hands. They're all still going to have to block, that's our offense, but they'll make some plays when we throw it out there, and we're going to throw it out there to them."

Dominique Swope became the first Eagle to record back-to-back 1,000-yard rushing seasons since Jermaine Austin in 2002 and 2003.

DEFENSIVE LINE

Gone is Brent Russell, who started in nearly every game in his Georgia Southern career on the defensive line as well as Dion DuBose, who moved to defensive end from the linebacker spot for his final two years. Both displayed the "blue-collar" attitude that defined the toughness and character of the Eagle defense.

"It will be awfully difficult to replace someone like Brent Russell," Monken said about the four-time All-American. "He was the emotional leader for our team and he was productive, like Dion (DuBose), they were impact players for us throughout their careers."

Three seniors are listed at the top of the depth chart with Blake Riley, with 26 starts and 42 games played over the last two seasons, prepared to defend the Eagles' territory. At the ends, Josh Gebhardt and Javon Mention also have similar game experience with Gebhardt starting in 11 games last year while Mention was a backup to DuBose. Junior Justice Ejike possesses all the tools to have an outstanding year and backup, sophomore Jonathan Battle, could contend for the starting spot at nose tackle. Junior Rashad Williams, like Mention, was injured in the spring with hopes for both to be back at full strength. The youth brigade will have to provide the depth for the defensive line with redshirt freshmen Jamal Johnson and Tre Griffin listed in the number-two spots with a number of freshmen coming into the program.

Georgia Southern's offensive line, the "hawgs," pushed the Georgia Southern to a ninth NCAA rushing title as the Eagles averaged 399.4 rushing yards per game, best across all NCAA divisions in 2012 with four of the nation's top six single-game rushing totals.

"We lost Brent and Dion, but Blake was a consistent starter and Javon is as talented a player as we have had at the defensive end position," Monken said. "Gebby is a solid, dependable player at the other end position. In the middle, Justice and Jonathan (Battle) will have to step up and we will have to fill in the depth with freshmen."

LINEBACKERS

Depth, or a lack thereof, factors in at the linebacker spot as well. Senior Kyle Oehlbeck, the Eagles' top returning tackler with 51 total tackles and five tackles for loss, moves to Will linebacker. With nine starts at Mike in 2012, Oehlbeck has speed and an intensity level that is hard to match and those qualities see more use in the switch to the outside. Junior Antwione Williams is slated as the starting Buck linebacker and as the backup to Oehlbeck at Will. Williams filled in at safety during spring ball, so he'll bring another level of understanding of the Eagles' defensive system. Junior Edwin Jackson, who played in 12 games last year as reserve linebacker and contributor on special teams, claimed the starting middle linebacker role after the spring and had a team-best 10 tackles in the Blue-White game. Sophomore James Dean, who saw action as a running back in 2012, moved to the linebacker spot, a position he played in high school.

"Edwin and Kyle had really good springs and they showed us what they are capable of," Monken said. "I don't know if we are where we want to be in terms of depth, but we have to address that with current personnel. Hopefully, Quaun Daniels and Antwione Williams come into camp and push those guys. James Dean is a hard-working, tough kid and can grow into the position."

SECONDARY

"We probably have more players in the secondary on scholarship than any other position right now and we had some depth concerns there," Monken said. "We have veterans, like Valdon Cooper, Deion Stanley and Lavelle Westbrooks who have played and started games for us, we have some guys who haven't broken into the starting lineup, and we have brought in young guys to help us with depth, particularly at safety position. We have hopes that at least one and maybe a couple will find their way on the field and help us this year.

Sophomores Deshawntee "Ironhead" Gallon and Matt Dobson both were hard hitters on special teams, and those efforts put them at the top of the depth chart at the safety position after the departures of current NFL rookies J.J. Wilcox and Darius Eubanks. Gallon saw action in eight games and with Dobson, was one of seven true freshmen to earn a letter. Dobson, originally a quarterback, caught the eye of the defensive coaches with his plays on special teams, landing him at the safety spot, a position he played in high school. Steve Williams, who transferred to Georgia Southern in January, is penciled in as a backup at free safety while sophomore Antonio Glover is in the numbertwo spot at strong safety.

"It is never easy when you have key players depart, and losing Eubanks and Wilcox, Laron Scott the year before, and E.J. Webb and Carson Hill our first year – guys have to gain experience, get better and step up. We are going to have those growing pains."

As the top tackler in the secondary in 2012, junior Deion Stanley had 23 starts in his 29 games over the past two years as one of the most experienced members of the defensive backfield. Assistance could come from one of the program's s newcomers.

Valdon Cooper and Lavelle Westbrooks started the majority of games last season at cornerback as Cooper made improvements throughout the season and had a solid spring. Westbrooks, who has the most starts among the returning Eagles with 31, will provide leadership to the young group. Junior Nick Wright, who started the three playoff games and had his best game against Central Arkansas, continues to develop and gain an understanding of the system. Experienced senior Javonte Martin will challenge for a starting spot and provide depth at the position.

SPECIAL TEAMS

One of the Georgia Southern's strengths over the past few years has been its attention to detail in all aspects of special teams. After enjoying unmatched experience in several areas, the Eagles spent considerable time rebuilding those positions in 2012. New faces appeared at placekicker, punter, long snapper, holder and kickoff return specialist after the graduation of several veterans.

With just one full season of punting under his belt, Luke Cherry is already on the Eagles' career lists for most punts and punting yards. Cherry, who totaled 1,688 yards (37.5 avg.) on 47 punts in 2012, was named to the College Football Performance Awards watch list for punters this preseason. One of his best games was against Samford where Cherry had his best night with eight punts (41.2 avg.) and six kickoffs (57.5 avg.). The senior also registered over 4,700 yards on kickoffs with a 59.5 average last year.

Sophomore Ryan Nowicki made some impressions with his punting this spring and may share some of those responsibilities this fall. His Stalwart on the Eagles' defensive line, nose tackle Blake Riley posted a career-best 10 tackles in the 2012 win over Wofford with seven in the second half.

Versatile defensive lineman Javon Mention emerged as one of the top pass rushers in the Southern Conference. The senior tied for the team lead in sacks and had 10.5 tackles for loss in 2012.

statistics in 2012 included six kickoffs (56.0) and a 38-yard field goal.

Georgia Southern never found consistency in the kicking game last year, struggling with field goals with less than 50 percent success on its 20 attempts. Sophomore Alex Hanks made the most appearances for the Eagles with 17 and his efforts helped in the wins over Elon and Chattanooga and provided more offense in the Wofford and Central Arkansas games. Hanks was the third-leading scorer for Georgia Southern in 2012 with his seven field goals and 47 PATs for 68 points.

Redshirt freshman Connor Tierney had the best spring among the Eagle kickers and enters fall camp at the top of the depth chart. The 2013 recruiting class included freshman Younghoe Koo, a four-year all-conference kicker from Ridgewood, N.J. Returning to delivering the ball to the kickers and punters is Jake Banta, a redshirt sophomore who started every game at longsnapper. Sophomore Matt Dobson, who started his career as a quarterback and has moved to safety for 2013, will hold for field goal attempts.

Bryant, the projected starter at T-back, steps into a big role as Georgia Southern's primary kick returner, following Laron Scott and J.J. Wilcox, both who gave the Eagles a tremendous advantage in this aspect of the game. Bryant first returned punts and then in 2011 also had a couple of kickoff returns. Last year, he averaged 20.8 yards per return with a career-long 37-yard return coming against Chattanooga. With great open-field speed, Tray Butler doesn't have many returns to his credit, but has the potential to make an impact on special teams on punt returns. He had one 20-yard punt return in 2012 and a single kickoff return.

2013 SCHEDULE

Georgia Southern begins its first transitional year with an 11-game slate featuring six games at Allen E. Paulson Stadium and some exciting and new promotions for the season.

The Eagles open 2013 on August 31st with a familiar opponent, Savannah State, as the Tigers return to Paulson Stadium for the first time since Coach Monken's head coaching debut in 2010. Georgia Southern plays only its fifth-ever game in the month of August and the game marks the 400th game in the modera era.

As part of the season opener, The Athletics Department will hold a "Night of Champions" to honor former Georgia Southern teams and the Eagles' conference championship teams from 2012-13. The 2012 Football team will be recognized for their second consecutive Southern Conference championship, partnered with members of the 1993 team that won Georgia Southern's first-ever SoCon title. The 2013 Softball team, also a back-to-back champion, will be paired with the 1996 Softball team that won Georgia Southern's first SoCon championship in that sport. The 1993 Women's Soccer squad, the first one fielded as a varsity sport, will be honored with the 2012 team that won the program's first SoCon crown. Also recognized this special night will be the 2003 Eagle Volleyball team that won the SoCon regular season and tournament Northeast Conference member Saint Francis (Pa.) travels to Statesboro for a Sept. 7th game and Junior Eagle Club Day at Paulson Stadium for the first meeting between the two schools before Georgia Southern opens its final Southern Conference schedule at Wofford on Sept. 14th. An early bye weekend Sept. 21st prepares the Eagles for a Sept. 28th home meeting with Chattanooga as part of Family Weekend. The Eagles and Mocs have battled it out in the last several years with Georgia Southern coming away with a one-point win in 2011 and a triple-overtime victory at Finley Stadium last season.

The pattern of away and home games continues as Georgia Southern's final Southern Conference

Senior Kyle Oehlbeck moves to outside linebacker where the Eagles will be able to take advantage of his speed and agility.

Cornerback Lavelle Westbrooks, the most experienced of the Eagles' defensive backs, had two interceptions last season and returned this one for a 72-yard touchdown versus Samford.

schedule brings the team to Samford on October 5th before returning home for an early-afternoon game vs. The Citadel on October 12th at Paulson Stadium. Georgia Southern annually honors members of the Armed Forces and this game has been designated as Military Appreciation Day with special presentations and ticket promotions for military personnel. The Eagles head to Appalachian State October 26th after their second bye weekend October 19th.

Back-to-back home games to open the month of November will also close the 2013 home schedule for Georgia Southern. A BLUE OUT will be in full force for Furman on November 2nd and Eagle Nation will celebrate Homecoming weekend as Western Carolina comes to town November 9th. Georgia Southern will play its final Southern Conference game at Elon on November 16th and then face Southeastern Conference member Florida at "The Swamp" November 23rd in its last game of the season. Georgia Southern last played the Gators in 1996.

Georgia Southern fans this season will see firsthand the many changes that have already taken place at Paulson Stadium since the scoreboard demotion and groundbreaking earlier this year. With both the seat expansion project and Football Operations Center scheduled for completion in mid-2014, construction and progress continues throughout this season with minor inconveniences expected. One new project announced this summer, the addition of exclusive Bishop Club seating, will debut for the 2013 opener Aug. 31st. #### TO THE MEDIA

We hope you will find this publication useful while covering Georgia Southern's Football team. If you cannot find the information you need in this book, please do not hesitate to call Athletics Media Relations at (912) 478-0352.

Additional requests by accredited media representatives for items such as feature materials and photos and video should be directed to our office

We urge all media members to take a moment and read the guidelines which will aid you in covering Georgia Southern Football.

PRESS BOX

Entrance – The entrance to the Georgia Southern press box is located at the back of the box midway across the south stands. There is no elevator to the press box. Steps are located on either end of the press box.

Levels – The press box is a two-tier facility. To reach the second level, you must enter the first level and use the stairs located in the middle of the writers' area

Level 1 – This area is reserved for print media and statistics personnel with separate booths for radio networks, coaches and television announcers. The athletics media relations office provides wireless internet access and Ethernet lines on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Radio Network – The originating station for each team's network is provided a spacious booth from which to broadcast. Two phone lines are provided in the visitor's radio booth on a reciprocal basis. Otherwise, a fee of $100 will be charged. For your assistance and the enhancement of your broadcast, statistical monitors will be available in each radio booth

Television – Should there be television coverage of a game, a broadcast booth will be provided to the originating network. Contact the athletics media relations office for details. All telecasts must have the approval of GSU Athletics Director Tom Kleinlein.

Coaches Booth – Each of the coaching staffs has one booth designated for its use. The booth can seat four people comfortably. For information on headsets, contact facility manager Roger Inman at (912) 681-5412 or equipment manager Stewart Carter at (912) 478-5970.

Level 2 – This is the photo deck level and serves as the filming area for all television and team video crews. Priority is given to film crews and stations that cover Georgia Southern and the opposing team on a regular basis.

Sideline – Georgia Southern strictly follows NCAA rules regarding media representatives on the sidelines. Photographers are not permitted to shoot within the designated team areas between the 25yard lines and must display their credentials at all times. In addition to credentials, all photographers (still/video) will be issued adhesive armbands which will allow for easy identification. Media staffing the contest will not be allowed in the team areas for any reason. Representatives from the GSU Athletics Media Relations Office will be responsible for sideline control.

CREDENTIALS

Press Box – All members of the media covering the game must request credentials from Barrett Gilham. All requests should be made via e-mail, fax or letter on company letterhead. Individuals not assigned to the game will not be granted press credentials. No one under the age of 16 will be permitted in the working area of the pressbox (or on the sideline) at any time, regardless of affiliation.

Sidelines – Follow the same procedure as used in requesting press box credentials. Armbands will be issued prior to the game in the press box.

PRESS WILL CALL

Game credentials not mailed can be picked up at the press will-call window. If you are covering the Eagles, need parking and your credentials aren't mailed, you must pick them up at the GSU Police Station, which is located on Forest Drive off U.S. Highway 301.

PARKING

Press parking is at a premium at Paulson Stadium and as a result, spaces are allotted on a first-come, first-serve basis. Press parking is located in the parking lot southwest of the press box. Georgia Southern agreed to terms for four nonconference games in 2014, three in the first month of the season, with one in the 12th week.

Three of the four 2014 nonconference games mark the first meeting between the respective institutions with the Eagles playing the Midshipmen once before in 2010. Contests against the Wolfpack and Yellow Jackets will be the first against an Atlantic Coast Conference opponent since the Eagles played North Carolina in 2009.

The Georgia Southern-Georgia Tech had been announced for 2015, but the Eagles' move to FBS and a vacancy on the Yellow Jackets schedule opened discussions for the athletics directors to move the game up a year. Duquesne visits Paulson Stadium in the first-ever matchup between the two institutions. The Dukes and Saint Francis Red Flash, a 2013 opponent, are both members of the Northeast Conference.

The 2014 Sun Belt schedule will be released by the conference next year. A game with LSU at Tiger Stadium in Baton Rouge for 2014 will be rescheduled for another season.

AUGUSTA COLLEGE, 1978

Brooks A. Keel, Ph.D. began his tenure as the 12th President of Georgia Southern University on January 4, 2010.

The Augusta, Ga. native, a self-described product of the education system of Georgia, returns to his home state to lead Georgia Southern University with significant experience in the top ranks of academia, research, and economic development.

Prior to his arrival at Georgia Southern, Keel served as the Vice Chancellor for Research and Economic Development, and professor of Biological Sciences at Louisiana State University (LSU) in Baton Rouge since 2006. From 2002 to 2006, he was a professor in the Department of Biomedical Sciences and associate Vice President for Research at Florida State University in Tallahassee, FL.

Keel's professional career began in 1985 at the University of Kansas School of Medicine-Wichita, where he served in a variety of positions including the Daniel K. Roberts Distinguished Professor in the Department of Obstetrics and Gynecology (1995-2001), President of the Women's Research Institute (1993-2001), and Director of Reproductive Medicine Laboratories (1994-2002).

Since joining Georgia Southern, Keel has been focused on expanding undergraduate and graduate learning opportunities whether through research, creative or community-based educational experiences. In addition, he has been working to increase Georgia Southern's research and economic development opportunities. The University is already beginning to attract interest through its Renewable Energy Lab and Public Health Core Research Lab.

Keel earned his Ph.D. in reproductive endocrinology from the Medical College of Georgia in 1982 and a Bachelor of Science in biology and chemistry from Augusta College (now Georgia Regents University) in 1978. He has completed postdoctoral work at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Houston and at the University of South Dakota School of Medicine, Vermillion.

He is a member of the Society for the Study of Reproduction, the American Society for Reproductive Medicine and the Society for Gynecologic Investigation, among others. Keel has served on numerous boards related to his discipline, including the American Board of Bioanalysis, the American Association of Bioanalysts Board of Registry, the Oak Ridge Associated Universities, the Southeastern Universities Research Association and the Executive Committee of the Council on Research Policy and Graduate Education of APLU.

Keel is married to Dr. Tammie Schalue, an accomplished scientist and scholar. Dr. Schalue currently serves as the director of laboratories at the Heartland Center for Reproductive Medicine and the associate administrator for the American Association of Bioanalysts (AAB). Both are certified SCUBA diving instructors.

Georgia Southern President Brooks Keel and First Lady Tammie Schalue honor the conference champions from each sport with receptions at their home, welcoming the Eagle Football team after winning its 10th SoCon title in 2012. The couple supports Eagle student-athletes at home and many away competitions.

TOM KLEINLEIN

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS GEORGIA SOUTHERN UNIVERSITY WAKE FOREST, 1998

Tom Kleinlein, who was named Georgia Southern's Director of Athletics on November 12, 2012, has already had an eventful first year under his belt. Since arriving, Kleinlein has been instrumental in the Eagles joining the Sun Belt and has announced new partnerships with adidas Nelligan Sports Marketing and SIDEARM Sports and added a new sport in women's rifle. He also oversees the Eagles' 16 sports, including four Southern Conference Championship teams from a year ago, and is responsible for the operation of the entire athletic department.

The new five-year apparel agreement with adidas will provide Georgia Southern game uniforms, practice gear along with equipment such as footballs. The Nelligan Sports Marketing partnership will allow for growth in revenue streams through corporate sponsorship opportunities and programming. The SIDEARM Sports agreement will provide the department with a new gseagles.com with an all-access section along with a full suite of mobile features for fans.

Kleinlein also has hired three new head coaches during his first semester on campus. Mark Byington was named Head Coach of the men's basketball program on April 1st. He also promoted Brian Dunleavy to Head Coach of the women's soccer team after serving as an assistant coach on the 2012 Southern Conference Tournament Championship team. His latest hire, Dustin Wood, was tabbed to lead the volleyball program on July 2nd.

Georgia Southern student-athletes continued their success in the classroom under Kleinlein's watch. In all 206 student-athletes posted a 3.0 better during the fall 2012 semester and 194 posted a 3.0 in the spring 2013 semester. The multi-year Academic Progress Rate (APR) scores for nine Eagles team improved during the latest reporting period and all teams surpassed the 900 multi-year threshold.

Kleinlein came to Georgia Southern from Kent State where he became Deputy Athletic Director in September 2011 after serving as the Golden Flashes' Executive Associate Athletic Director since 2010. Kleinlein served as the primary advisor and liaison to the director of athletics while overseeing the strategic planning and operations for Kent State's Intercollegiate Athletics Department.

He managed Kent State's revenue generation component and coordinated the department's efforts with Institutional Advancement, Enrollment Management and Student Affairs and served as the direct sport supervisor for football along with men's and women's basketball while directing many of the day-to-day operations of the department.

During his time at Kent State, Kleinlein negotiated a five-year multimedia agreement with Clear Channel Media & iHeartRadio as well as an all sport apparel deal with Nike that included the first ever team concept shop in the Kent State University Bookstore. In only his first season with the Golden Flashes, he developed and implemented marketing plans that saw a 200 percent increase in football attendance in 2010 and an increase in basketball ticket revenue for the 2011-12 season. Kleinlein was also part of the implementation team for a 10 year, $42.5 million athletic facility master plan for Kent State.

Prior to his arrival in Kent, Kleinlein was the Associate Athletic Director for Football at Arizona State University from 2005-10. In that role, he oversaw the strategic planning, budget, personnel, scheduling, team travel, facilities, student-athlete welfare and campus and alumni relations. Before his stint in Tempe, Kleinlein served as the Assistant Athletic Director for Football Operations at Rutgers University in Piscataway, N.J. from 2003-05, overseeing all aspects of a $6.1 million budget. Prior to that, he spent nearly four-and-a-half years at his alma mater, joining the Wake Forest University staff in 1998 as an academic counselor, before being named Assistant Director of Football Operations in 2002.

A four-year letter winner on the Demon Deacons' offensive line from 1989-92, Kleinlein earned a bachelor's degree in history from Wake Forest (1998), and a master's in education curriculum and instruction from Arizona State (2008).

Originally from Inwood, N.Y., Kleinlein and his wife, Tara, have two sons – Austin and Mason.

Senior Eagles gathered around new Georgia Southern Athletics Director Tom Kleinlein as one of the first orders of business was to present the 2012 Southern Conference trophy to the Football team after practice. Women's Soccer, Volleyball and Softball also added to the department's hardware collection with championship trophies during the 2012-13 year.

As Georgia Southern University embarks on a new journey, there may not be a more perfect individual than Head Coach Jeff Monken to navigate the present and future for the Eagle Football program.

In its first transitional year after accepting an invitation in March to join the Sun Belt Conference and move to the Football Bowl Subdivision, the tasks at hand are many and the expectations are as high as ever. For Monken, leading this traditional power to a new chapter begins with 2013, as several of the first studentathletes he recruited to Georgia Southern will compete in their last season as Eagles.

Finalist for the 2012 Liberty Mutual Coach of the Year award, Monken guided the Eagles to a third-straight double-digit win season and second-straight Southern Conference championship in 2012. Georgia Southern was the only program to make an appearance in each of the last three NCAA FCS Semifinals and earned a number-three final ranking in both polls.

Monken holds a 31-12 career record (.721) in his three seasons in Statesboro, a mark that includes a streak of 14-straight wins at Paulson Stadium, that dated back to 2010 and was at one point, the country's longest. The Eagles competed against the nation's toughest schedule in 2012, a slate that was ranked seventh most difficult on the FBS and FCS combined list. Measured against the high standards and history of the Georgia Southern program, Monken continues to impress. He joins Paul Johnson as the only other Eagle Football coach to have at least 10 wins in each of their first three seasons.

While the yearly records reflect the success, other indicators emphasize the point. More than 30 individual or team records have been broken or tied in the last three seasons. Monken's 2012 Georgia Southern team claimed the NCAA annual rushing title with the highest per game average in Division I at 399.36 yards per game. Quarterback Jerick McKinnon, a candidate for the Walter Payton Award, and running back Dominique Swope not only climbed up the national and conference charts for rushing yards and total offense, they also combined for the NCAA record for rushing yards by teammates (3,063) last season.

Adding to the lengthy list of All-Americans, seven Eagles earned accolades in 2012, several others were honored with recognition from numerous national media outlets and seniors Darius Eubanks, Brent Russell and J.J. Wilcox garnered showcase bowl opportunities. Wilcox became the Georgia Southern's highest-ever NFL Draft pick, selected by the Cowboys in the third round while Eubanks (Minnesota) and Russell (Chicago) signed free agent contracts, joining Eagle Laron Scott, who signed with the New York Giants organization the year before.

HEAD COACH JEFF MONHEN

During the 2011 season, Georgia Southern spent seven weeks at #1 in both FCS polls, received the school's first Associated Press (AP) poll vote and defeated Wofford 31-10 for the ninth Southern Conference Championship in school history. Five players were named All-Americans after the 11-3 season and the Eagles cleaned up the major SoCon awards with Brent Russell selected as the SoCon Defensive Player of the Year, Dominique Swope the Freshman of the Year, and Monken named the Coach of the Year. The Eagles continued their success in the postseason, winning a pair of home playoff games against Old Dominion and Maine before finishing the season in the semifinals.

The Eagles defeated five ranked teams in Monken's inaugural campaign in 2010, posting a 10-5 record which included an overtime victory over topranked and previously undefeated Appalachian State. Georgia Southern snapped the Mountaineers' 26-game conference winning streak at Paulson Stadium and the win opened the door for the program's first NCAA appearance since 2005.

Reeling off three-straight victories to end the regular season, the Eagles earned a spot in the postseason, and added three more marks to the win column to advance to their first FCS semifinal playoff game since 2002. The 10-win campaign was the first in eight years as the Eagles reclaimed positions in the national and conference statistical rankings for offense, defense and special teams.

While the facts and figures leave little to dispute regarding the Eagles' success, Monken waves off any accolades and instead focuses on plans for the upcoming season. Not only is he charged with preparing his team for roles on the football field, he takes very seriously the responsibility of helping young men reach their goals as future graduates and citizens.

The results have been positive in those aspects as well. The Georgia Southern Football program set a new high in team grade point average in each of Monken's first two years. The Eagles' broke their 2010-11 record with a 2.64 GPA in the 2011-12 academic year. They also set a new standard for single-semester mark with a 2.70 GPA in the 2012 spring semester with 49 Eagles posting GPAs of 3.0 or better. This past fall, 42 student-athletes achieved a 3.0 or above GPA, contributing to the program's highest-ever in-season GPA and 27 Eagles were honored on the Southern Conference Academic Honor Roll for the 2012-13 year with nine earning the Commissioner's medal.

The lessons learned in the classroom and on the field are part of the process of educating these young men. Monken also encourages volunteer service and both the Eagle head coach and football players are frequent participants at local events, serving in the community and working with people of all ages on various projects and initiatives. Their presence brightens the demeanor of those they visit and that observation alone shows another dimension of Monken's role as a coach and mentor.

Accepting the head coaching position at Georgia Southern in November 2009, Monken approaches the tasks at hand every day with a sense of urgency combined with a reverence for the Eagle coaches and players who built the foundation and created the dynasty. His plan for Georgia Southern's success is just as straight forward as his coaching philosophy: work hard, be tough and play with unrelenting effort. With a dozen family members, including his father, Mike, who coach at the high school, collegiate or pro level, there are more than just a few who have influenced his thinking and coaching style.

When he was hired as the eighth head coach in the modern history of the program, Monken had 20 years of coaching experience, including 13 serving as an assistant coach for his mentor Paul Johnson. Monken was the Eagles' slotbacks coach from 1997-2001, joining Johnson's staff at Navy and Georgia Tech before returning to the familiar sidelines at Georgia Southern and the "triple option" offense.

The option, so tied to the identity of Georgia Southern, delivered six national championship flags to Paulson Stadium and countless exciting moments to Eagle fans. Monken stands by the option as not just an offensive scheme, but "the" offense for the Eagles. The numbers: yards gained, wins and championship rings alone are enough to make the point in its favor.

Behind the option and some talented players in the program, Monken's five years on Coach Johnson's staff at Georgia Southern were among the most successful of any program. The five-year period produced an overall record of 62-10, two NCAA FCS National Championships (1999 and 2000), five consecutive NCAA FCS playoff appearances, five Southern Conference championships, and the school's second undefeated regular season (1998) en route to a national championship appearance. During that 1998 season, Corey Joyner, under the tutelage of Monken, earned All-SoCon and All-America honors.

The proficiency of the offense was evident as Georgia Southern ranked among the top-five teams in rushing offense all five years, leading the nation in 1999 (419 ypg) and 2001 (323.6 ypg). The Eagles finished among the top-15 national scoring leaders in four of those five seasons - including posting the nation's best average of 50.0 points per game in 1999. Monken also oversaw the Eagles' special teams units, with his punt team ranking fourth nationally in 2001, averaging a net of 38.7 yards.

Monken joined Georgia Southern after playing a key role in the resurgence of Georgia Tech football and served as slotbacks coach and special teams coordinator in 2008 and 2009. Monken helped the Yellow Jackets win the Atlantic Coast Conference championship (vacated) and post double-digit wins in 2009.

Prior to Georgia Tech, Monken spent six seasons with Johnson at Navy, coaching the Midshipmen's slotbacks and, starting in 2005, adding duties as special teams coordinator. Part of a staff that led Navy to success unseen in Annapolis in decades, Monken contributed to a prolific offensive system that led the Midshipmen to five-straight bowl appearances and five consecutive Commander-in-Chief trophies between 2003 and 2007. Navy recorded 10 wins in 2004, tying the Academy's previous best mark for wins last achieved in 1905, and finished the season with a number-24 ranking.

Handling a wide variety of duties throughout his coaching career, Monken started in the profession in 1989 as a graduate assistant at Hawai'i. After a one-year stint as a graduate assistant at Arizona State in 1991, he moved on to Buffalo, where he served as a wide receivers and tight ends coach and handled recruiting coordinator responsibilities. He also served on the staffs at Morton (Ill.) High School (head coach) and Concordia (Ill.) University (offensive line).

The Joliet, Ill., native earned a master's degree from Hawai'i in 1991 and a bachelor's degree from Millikin University in 1989. He played wide receiver for the Big Blue for four years and was a two-time letterwinner in track. Monken will be inducted into the Millikin Athletic Hall of Fame in October of 2013.

Monken and his wife, Beth, make their home in Statesboro. The couple has three daughters, Isabelle, Amelia and Evangeline.

ASSISTANT HEAD COACH // QUARTERBACKS // FOURTH SEASON

A major factor, if not THE major factor in the success of the triple option lies in the hands of the Georgia Southern quarterback. The Eagles were in good hands with Jerick McKinnon in 2012 as they claimed their 10th Southern Conference title and made a third-straight trip to the NCAA semifinals. The success of the 2012 campaign was in large part due to the offensive production of McKinnon and the coaching approach of respected coach Mitch Ware.

Ware begins his fourth year on Coach Jeff Monken's staff and eighth year overall at Georgia Southern. The title of Assistant Head Coach was added in March 2012.

Georgia Southern's triple option continues to develop, with the Eagle quarterbacks directing the most potent rushing offense in the nation. The Eagles averaged 399.4 yards per game, best among all NCAA Divisions, and amassed a record 5,591 yards of rushing and came within 40 yards of setting the record for yards of total offense.

While offense is always a potential threat to opponents and team records, McKinnon broke or challenged several individual records in 2012. McKinnon, who accounted for nearly one third of the Eagles' rushing yards total, posted the third-highest single-season rushing total (1,817) behind only Adrian Peterson and Jayson Foster. He broke Foster's single-game rushing yards total (316) by a quarterback and was just 17 yards shy of tying Peterson's single-game rushing yards record. McKinnon's numbers made him an easy choice for All-American status by the College Sports Journal and College Sports Report.

Ware previously served as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach from 2002-2005 under former Head Coach Mike Sewak. He helped lead Georgia Southern's rushing game to the top spot in the FCS in each of those four seasons, guiding talented Eagle quarterbacks into leadership roles and was the perfect choice when the option returned in 2010.

Behind the steady signal calling of Georgia Tech transfer Jaybo Shaw, Eagles made two straight trips to the FCS semifinals in 2010 and 2011. Shaw, who helped Georgia Southern to epic wins over Appalachian State, William & Mary, and Wofford, finished his career among the Eagle career leaders and totaled 30 rushing scores. Shaw earned All-Conference Second Team honors after the 2011 season and was named the Team's MVP.

In his first year on the Eagles coaching staff in 2002, Ware developed first-year starter Chaz Williams into one of the best quarterbacks in the FCS. Williams, who earned All-America honors from the Associated Press and was a finalist for the prestigious Walter Payton Award, was chosen as the Southern Conference's Offensive Player of the Year after rushing for 1,422 yards and scoring a position-record 27 touchdowns as a sophomore. He also guided fullback Jermaine Austin through an incredible rookie season which produced a 1,416-yard rushing total and the SoCon's Freshman of the Year award.

In 2003, Georgia Southern averaged 335.6 yards per game, best in the nation, thanks to Austin's efforts. Austin earned the SoCon's Offensive Player of the Year award and All-America honors for the second time. Austin's 1,461 ground yards, an average of 132.8 per contest, placed him ninth in the final national rankings. The next season, the Eagles commanded the top spot in rushing again, with 369.9 yards per game, leading all of NCAA Division I. Overall, the offense was ranked third nationally in yards per game.

Ware came to GSU the first time in 2002 after four seasons at the United States Naval Academy, where he spent three years as the Midshipman's quarterbacks coach. While at Navy, Ware tutored a pair of standout quarterbacks in Brian Broadwater and Brian Madden, who led the nation in rushing yards by a quarterback in 1999 with 897. In 2001, he helped guide Madden to a near-1,000-yard campaigns in both rushing (905) and passing (902)

Prior to his stint at Navy, Ware served as assistant head coach, offensive coordinator and running backs coach at Southwest Missouri State (now Missouri State) during a 16-year tenure. Ware began at MS in 1976 as the starting quarterback for the Bears during his freshman season. After graduating in 1980, he spent two years as a graduate assistant before being quickly elevated to a full time position beginning in 1982.

Southwest Missouri State ranked as one of top rushing offenses in the FCS from 1989 through 1992. Ware was primarily responsible for the outstanding career of Bears' quarterback DeAndre Smith, who was named the Gateway Football Conference's Offensive Player-of-the-Decade for the period of 1985 through 1994.

A co-captain and four-year starter, Ware guided the Bears and directed Southwest Missouri State to its last Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association Championship in 1978 and captured the league's most valuable player award as a senior in 1979. He also established seven career school records during his playing days. An Associated Press Honorable Mention All-America selection as a senior in 1979, Ware received the prestigious NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship at the conclusion of his playing career.

Ware's stay at MS saw the Bears move from NCAA Division II and the MIAA to NCAA Division 1 FCS and the Mid-Continent and Gateway Football Conferences. He earned both his bachelor's (1980) and master's degrees (1982) from Southwest Missouri State and in 1996, he was inducted into the athletics program's hall of fame.

Ware and his wife Judy, have three sons, Jacob, a former Eagle student-athlete, Joshua and Jackson.

CO-DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR // LINEBACKERS // SECOND SEASON

Promoted to Co-Defensive Coordinator after his first season with Georgia Southern, Kevin Corless helped lead the Eagles to their second-straight Southern Conference Championship and their third consecutive trip to the NCAA FCS semifinals. During the 2012 season, Corless tutored linebacker John Stevenson, a former walkon, who would finish the year as the Eagles' top tackler and selection as the winner of the prestigious Erk Russell Award.

Corless came to Georgia Southern from Arkansas State University where he was the Associate Head Coach and Defensive Coordinator during the 2009 and 2010 seasons. For seven seasons, (2002-08), Corless served as the Assistant Head Coach and the Defensive Co-coordinator for the Red Wolves along with close friend and current Eagle Co-Defensive Coordinator Jack Curtis.

Rivals.com named Corless the Sun Belt Conference "Defensive Coordinator of the Year" following the 2009 season as the Red Wolf defense finished first in the league in total defense. That season capped a four-year run that saw the Arkansas State defense finish first or second in total defense and first or second in nearly every other major defensive category including points allowed, rushing defense, passing defense and red zone defense.

Success on the defensive side of the ball had more than proved its value to the Arkansas State program. In 2008, the Red Wolves recorded their biggest win in school history as Corless' defensive play calling was instrumental in the victory over Texas A & M as Arkansas State shut out the Aggies in the final three quarters. A number-32 ranking in total defense for the Red Wolves, one of the highest ever in the history of the program, was achieved in 2006. The defensive efforts during the 2005 season were key to the Red Wolves' 2005 Sunbelt Conference championship and the school's first-ever appearance in a bowl game.

Several Arkansas State players under Corless' direction went on to play in the NFL including Tyrell Johnson, the 2007 Sun Belt Defensive Player of the Year, who was drafted in the second round by Minnesota, and the 2008 Sun Belt Defensive Player of the Year Alex Carrington, a third-round pick of the Buffalo Bills. Red Wolves John Bradley (Tampa Bay) Corey Williams (Detroit), a sixth-round pick of Green Bay, Khayam Burns (Kansas City), Kelcie McCray (Miami), Bryan Hall (Baltimore), Marcus Brown (Seattle, Miami) played on Sundays. Additional NFL Draft selections included Demario Davis (third round, New York Jets) and M.D. Jennings (seventh round, Green Bay)

Corless and the defensive staff had an immediate impact upon arriving at Arkansas State. That first season in Jonesboro, the 2002 defense jumped 41 spots from 80th to 39th in the country in total defense. The swarming defense sacked opposing quarterbacks 33 times, a major increase from only eight sacks from the previous season, and more than tripled interceptions to 16.

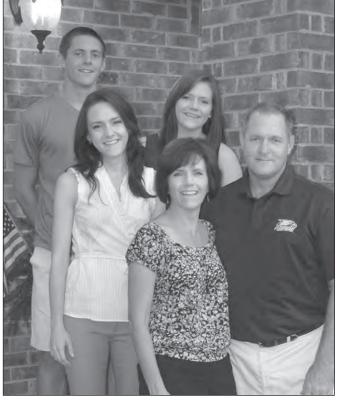

Corless spent seven seasons at Northwestern State (La.) before heading to Jonesboro. He helped lead the Demons to Southland Conference championships in 1997 and 1998 and three Division I-AA playoff appearances in 1997, 1998 and 2001. During his tenure at Northwestern State, the Demon defensive unit consistently ranked as one best in the country. Corless' success as a position coach translated to his responsibilities with special teams where he developed one of the top punt return units in the nation led by All-American Terrance McGee, a future fourthround pick of the Buffalo Bills and Rookie Pro Bowl Selection. NSU staked its claim on the number-one spot in the country for punt returns in 1998.

In his first three seasons at Northwestern State, Corless coached the defensive line before being promoted to Assistant Head Coach and Defensive Co-Coordinator/Linebacker Coach prior to the 1999 season. Despite losing nine starters from 13th-ranked 1998 Demon defense, Corless guided his 1999 unit to a number-16 ranking in the nation.

From 1987-1995, Corless served as linebackers coach and coordinated special teams at Montana Tech, helping build a team that had not won a single game in three seasons to a highly competitive program. The Orediggers would post multiple winning seasons, claim a conference title and in 1992, earn a bid for the school's first appearance in the national playoffs.

The Kansas City, Mo., native played linebacker at Northwest Missouri State University and earned both his bachelor's and master's degrees there. Corless began his coaching career as an assistant coach with responsibilities for the linebackers. From 1984-86, he helped lead his alma mater to an MIAA Conference Championship, a 10-2 record and the National Playoffs.

Corless and his wife Stacey have three children,  $\mbox{\it Anne},$  Caitlin and Joe.

JACK CURTIS

CO-DEFENSIVE COORDINATOR // SAFETIES // THIRD SEASON

With four Eagles Darius Eubanks, Brent Russell, Laron Scott and J.J. Wilcox on NFL rosters and All-America accolades for Dion DuBose, Russell, Scott, Roderick Tinsley and Wilcox, the defensive accomplishments of the past two seasons season are all the more impressive for Defensive Coordinator Jack Curtis. Wilcox, who converted to safety during preseason camp, became Georgia Southern's highest-ever draft pick, selected in the third round by the Dallas Cowboys. The Cowboys recognized what Curtis saw months earlier — a naturally talented athlete with great upside who could quickly learn the position.

Recognition and development of the Eagles' defensive talent is just one facet of Curtis' coaching ability. With more than 20 years of collegiate coaching experience backing him, Curtis helped the Eagles win a Southern Conference championship in 2011, his first year in Statesboro, and then another in last season for the program's 10th conference crown.

The honors stacked up again for the defense in 2012 with DuBose, Eubanks, Patrick Flowe, Javon Mention and Russell all earning spots on one of the SoCon postseason teams and additional recognition for Valdon Cooper and John Stevenson. The season before, four defensive starters were named All-Southern Conference and three players (Russell, Laron Scott, Roderick Tinsley) were selected as All-Americans with Russell winning the SoCon's Defensive Player of the Year Award. Scott signed as an undrafted free agent and is currently a member of the New York Giants organization.

Curtis came to Georgia Southern after one season as the defensive coordinator at Central Missouri. Central Missouri posted a program-best 11 wins and finished the 2010 season with a No. 5 ranking, the highest in Mules' history. Curtis joined UCM after a year on the staff at Memphis, where he coached the safeties and had responsibilities for the kickoff, punt and field goal block aspects of the Tigers' special teams units.

After eight years on the defensive staff at Northwestern State University, including the last three as defensive coordinator, Curtis was offered the position of co-defensive coordinator and safeties coach at Arkansas State. Curtis took over a defense that had ranked 61st nationally in pass defense the year before and he helped the Red Wolves improve to 16th nationally in pass defense and 39th in total defense. In those eight seasons, the NSU defense produced 18 All-Sun Belt honorees and two Sun Belt Defensive Players of the Year in Tyrell Johnson (2007) and Alex Carrington (2008).

Johnson, a four-time All-Sun Belt selection, was the top tackler for ASU and broke the league's all-time tackles record. He was selected in the second round of the 2008 NFL Draft. Carrington was a third-round pick of the Buffalo Bills in 2010. Joining Johnson in the Red Wolves secondary as a member of the All-Sun Belt first team was Khayyam Burns, who signed a rookie free agent contract with the Kansas City Chiefs.

Curtis coached six first-team All-Americans and nine players who were selected in the NFL draft. More than a dozen of his former players signed with NFL teams, including several who are on current rosters. The list includes 2005 Pro Bowl cornerback Terrence McGee and Michael Green. Fourth-round draft pick Kenny Wright, Keith Thibodeaux and David Pittman, a third-round draft pick, were also coached by Curtis. Several of Curtis' other former players continued their football careers in the Canadian, NFL Europe and other professional leagues.

During Curtis' tenure at Arkansas State, the Red Wolves ranked in the top 30 in the country in pass defense four times and in the top 50 in total defense five times. In 2007, ASU was the leading defensive unit in the Sun Belt Conference. The next year, ASU was ranked 30th nationally in rush defense and in the top 50 in both scoring and total defense in Curtis' final season with the program.

Curtis' 4-3 defensive play calling was instrumental in Arkansas State's 18-14 win over Texas A&M in 2008 as the Red Wolves shutout the Aggies in the final three quarters. His switch to a 4-3 defensive scheme was also key to the Red Wolves' 2005 Sun Belt championship season and their first-ever appearance in a bowl game.

Northwestern State's players thrived under Curtis' direction, most notably All-American defensive backs Jermaine Jones and Tony Joe Maranto. Jones, a cornerback, was named Southland Conference Player of the Year in 1998 and Maranto was selected as 1997 Southland Conference Defensive Player of the Year.

A first-team all-state defensive back at Silver City High School in New Mexico, Curtis played three years at Evangel University before injuries cut his collegiate football career short. He began his coaching career in what would have been his senior year as a student coach for the Crusaders.

After graduation Curtis accepted a position as a graduate assistant coach at Henderson State University and earned his master's degree in physical education in 1990. He moved to Starkville, Miss., where a graduate assistant coaching position at Mississippi State allowed him to begin his specialist's degree in educational leadership and work with the Bulldogs' coaching staff. Curtis remained as a volunteer coach from 1991 through August of 1992 and worked with the Bulldogs' defensive backs.

Western New Mexico hired Curtis as its secondary coach in 1993. He returned to Silver City, N.M., and helped lead the Mustangs to a 7-3 record, the NAIA playoffs and a No. 3 NAIA final national ranking. Curtis' defense led the nation with 29 interceptions and free safety Chris Edmond snatched 13 to lead the nation in that category.

Born in Birmingham, Ala., Curtis grew up in the South before his family moved to New Mexico where he attended high school. He is married to the former Michelle Weser of Dumas, Ark., and they have two daughters, Carolina and Georganna.

BRENT DAVIS

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR // OFFENSIVE LINE // FOURTH SEASON

Georgia Southern Offensive Coordinator Brent Davis knows that some statistics don't lie. After two straight seasons with top-five finishes in rushing offense, the Eagles claimed the nation's best per-game rushing average, racking up a figure just shy of 400 yards (399.4) in 2012, best across all NCAA divisions. That average ranked as the second best in Georgia Southern history, behind only the NCAA record 419.0 average posted by the extremely potent offense of the 1999 Eagle national champions.

The talent behind those numbers in the triple option, equates to success, and Davis, the veteran offensive coordinator and offensive line coach, has quickly engineered another top offense in the FCS. Davis, who served as an offensive line coach for Georgia Southern from 2002 to 2005, begins his fourth year as the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach on Coach Jeff Monken's staff.

Not only did the Eagles post the top rushing average in the country, they ranked in the top 10 for total offense (466.86) and top 15 for scoring (34.5 ppg). Georgia Southern registered four of the nation's top six single-game team performances and saw the tandem of quarterback Jerick McKinnon and Dominique Swope reclaim an NCAA record for most yards combined by teammates during a single season (3,063 -- 1,817 by McKinnon and 1,246 by Swope). McKinnon finished 2012 on the single-season chart behind only legends Adrian Peterson (1998) and Jayson Foster (2007).

Though backs see those incredible statistics after their names, a large part of the credit goes to the Eagle offensive line, where the "Hawgs" toil to make five men an impermeable wall. While McKinnon and Swope earned All-America recognition, offensive tackles Dorian Byrd and Garrett Frye were among those with such honors as well.

Davis returned to Georgia Southern after four seasons as the offensive coordinator at VMI, where he was the architect of the Keydet option attack that ranked as the nation's leader in rushing offense in 2008 and 2009. Named interim head coach of VMI in January of 2008, he signed the largest class in Keydet history with 28 players, including five from Georgia. For his efforts on the coaching staff following the 2007 season, Davis was presented the Institute's Distinguished Coaching Award by the Superintendent.

The Keydets led the Big South in rushing all four years during Davis' tenure as offensive coordinator, leading the nation in 2009, and all NCAA divisions in 2008. VMI recorded a conference-record 357.5 yards per game in 2008, and in 2009, averaged 276.7 rushing yards per game, 100 yards more, on average per game, than the next team in the league. The offensive line allowed only five sacks in 2009, fewest in the FCS.

Fifteenth in the nation in scoring (34.7 points per game) in 2008, the Keydets finished 10th in total offense at 435 yards per game. VMI led the Big South in scoring, rushing and passing efficiency while the VMI record books were rewritten to reflect school records set in total offense, rushing rushing yards, touchdowns, total touchdowns and scoring. In 2007, the Keydet offense produced four 500-plus yard games and was ranked fourth in the nation in rushing offense (283.2 yards per game) and 34th in the nation in total offense (402.2 ypg).

Davis installed the option offense at VMI in 2006, helping the program make the transition from the pro-style offense. The first year, Davis developed Sean Mizzer, who would lead the Big South with more than 1,000 yards rushing and earn First Team All-Big South Conference honors. The Keydets would finish 13th nationally in rushing yards per game.

From 2002-2005, Davis coached the offensive line at Georgia Southern and his unit helped the Eagles to two SoCon championships and three FCS playoff appearances. GSU ran its way to four consecutive FCS rushing titles (386.2 ypg in 2002, 335.6 ypg in 2003, 369.9 ypg in 2004 and 386.7 ypg in 2005) and the 2004 scoring title (47.0 points per game). During those years, eight Georgia Southern offensive linemen earned All-Southern Conference accolades while three (Charles Clarke, Chad Motte and Albert Turner) reached All-American status. In 2002, Clark was honored as the Jacobs Blocking Trophy winner, given to the best offensive lineman in the Southern Conference.

Credited for recruiting top players to Georgia Southern, Davis was instrumental in Jayson Foster and Chris Covington becoming Eagles. Foster's ability was recognized when he won the 2007 Walter Payton Award, while the talented and versatile Chris Covington was named the 2008 Southern Conference Defensive Player of the Year after leading Georgia Southern in rushing in 2006.

Changing positions from running backs to the offensive line, Davis spent the 2000 and 2001 seasons as assistant offensive line coach. Davis coached Georgia Southern's running backs from 1997-1999, working with 1999 Walter Payton Award winner, 1998 SoCon Offensive Player of the Year and All-American Adrian Peterson. Peterson amassed over 2,600 yards in 15 games in 1998. Peterson was later drafted in the sixth round by the Chicago Bears in the 2002 and played eight seasons in the NFL.

Davis, an Athens, Ga. native, played two seasons and won two letters at The Citadel as a tight end for Charlie Taafe in 1992 and 1993. Davis transferred to Georgia his junior year, where he lettered and also earned a spot on the Academic All-SEC Honor Roll as a senior. Davis graduated from Georgia in 1997 with a bachelor's degree in business management.

His wife, Jen, a Georgia Southern graduate, is a special education teacher.

VICTOR CABRAL

DEFENSIVE LINE // FOURTH SEASON

Once an Eagle, always an Eagle, and defensive line coach and alum Victor Cabral provides his defensive linemen with constant reminders that the Georgia Southern standards are just a little bit higher. And Cabral would know. A four-year Eagle starter and letterwinner, he was part of the winning tradition that included the 2000 National Championship, two NCAA semifinal playoff appearances and four conference titles during his career. Cabral begins his fourth year on Coach Jeff Monken's staff with responsibilities for the Eagle defensive line.

Cabral coached four-time All-American and 2011 Southern Conference Defensive Player of the Year Brent Russell, who anchored an intimidating defensive line, became the Eagles' career sacks leader in 2012, and signed a free agent contract with the Chicago Bears. Alongside Russell, senior defensive end Dion DuBose earned All-America accolades and rising senior Javon Mention garnered recognition from the Southern Conference and several national media outlets.

Three of the four members of the 2011 defensive line, including Russell, picked up postseason awards, with defensive tackle Roderick Tinsley selected as an All-American and defensive end John Douglas earning All-Southern Conference honors.

In his first year back on the banks of "Beautiful Eagle Creek," Cabral helped coach a defensive line that made great contributions to the overall success of the 2010 team. The Eagle defense finished the 2010 season ranked ninth nationally in total defense and 11th in both passing and scoring defense. The Eagles topped the Southern Conference rankings in scoring and rushing defense while finishing second in passing defense.

Cabral joined the Eagle program after spending three years as defensive line coach at Georgia Military College, where he also served as special teams coordinator for the Bulldogs. Cabral focused on the development of the nose guard and defensive end positions. In 2007, the GMC defensive unit earned a #1 ranking in rushing defense in the NJCAA. The next season, the Bulldogs ranked third nationally in total defense.

With success at the team level, the Bulldogs also had several individuals earn national accolades. Leroy Burgess was selected as a third-team NJCAA All-American and in 2008, Torrey Ball earned second-team All-America honors. Former Eagle Markeith Wylie was recognized as first-team Academic All-American in 2007. Thirteen GMC players coached by Cabral received scholarships to NCAA Division I programs during his three seasons in Milledgeville.

Cabral also served as GMC's director of strength and conditioning following two years in the role of assistant strength and conditioning coach. In addition to his coaching duties, he coordinated all video needs for the Bulldog program.

The 24th overall draft pick by the Montreal Alouettes in 2005, Cabral returned to Georgia Southern for the 2005 campaign, coordinating video and quality control for the Eagles. During the winter and spring of 2006, Cabral assisted with the defensive line responsibilities, including the preparation of daily practice plans and on-field evaluation and coaching.

The former Eagle team captain earned his bachelor of arts degree from Georgia Southern in May 2006 and graduated with his master's degree in May 2013. Cabral and his wife, Erin, a four-year letterwinner for the Eagles swimming and diving team from 2000-04, are the parents of a son, Zac.

CHAD LUNSFORD

WIDE RECEIVERS // RECRUITING COORDINATOR // FIRST SEASON

Former slotbacks coach for the Eagles from 2003-2006, Chad Lunsford returned to Statesboro as wide receivers coach and recruiting coordinator in June 2013. Lunsford brings both on-field coaching experience and an administrative background to the Georgia Southern program as it begins the transition to the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) in 2013.

Lunsford spent the previous four years in an administrative position with the Auburn football program, serving as the Director of Scouting from May 2009 through December 2012, and most recently as the Director of Player Personnel. Assisting with the day-to-day operations of Auburn football, with an emphasis on recruiting, organizing and overseeing the evaluation process fell under his purview.

Credited with making advancements in technology and introducing new ideas to assist the Tigers in their recruiting wars, Lunsford assisted with and organized numerous other aspects of Auburn's recruiting process. The Tigers boasted three of the nation's top recruiting classes in 2010, 2011 and 2012, with top-five rankings for the first two classes and top-10 ranking for 2012. Success in the Tigers' recruiting translated to success on the field as Auburn won the 2010 BCS national championship, 2010 Southeastern Conference Championship and made appearances in two other bowl games.

Lunsford coached the slotbacks in his three seasons (2003-05) on the Georgia Southern staff, including the Eagles' eventual all-time receptions leader Raja Andrews, who finished his career with 127 catches and as the record holder for receiving yards in a single season with 873. Armed with the ability to run and deliver blocks as well as catch passes in the triple option offense, his slotbacks contributed physically and statistically to threestraight NCAA Division I rushing titles to go along with a Southern Conference championship in 2004.

After departing Georgia Southern in 2006, Lunsford spent a year at Griffin High School as a special education teacher and served as the outside linebackers coach. The Bears posted an overall record of 11-2 that season for a winning percentage of .917, highest in the program history to that point, and advanced to the second round of the state playoffs.

Two years back at Georgia
Military College followed his time at Griffin with Lunsford taking a familiar place as linebackers coach and adding responsibilities as special teams coordinator. The Bulldogs continued their winning ways, posting an 18-4 record over those two seasons, with trips to the Pilgrim's Pride and Mississippi Bowls. A punter and two linebackers earned national accolades with another linebacker, eventual Eagle Calvin West, recognized as an honorable mention for NJCAA All-America honors.

A two-year letterman at Elbert

County High School for legendary Coach T. McFerrin, Lunsford was a two-way starter at linebacker and center for the Blue Devils. During his high school career, Elbert County made four-straight appearances in the state playoffs and posted a 20-3 record in his junior and senior years. He graduated from Georgia College and State University in May 2000 with a B.S. in biology and minor in mathematics and earned a Master of Sport Science degree from the United States Sports Academy in 2002.

While at GCSU as an undergrad, he served as a student assistant with Georgia Military College, beginning his career coaching the tight ends. In February 1997, he was hired as the running backs coach and handled several of the program's administrative areas. The Bulldogs would play in three straight Golden Isles bowl games, capture the 1998 National Junior College Athletics Association (NJCAA) rushing title with an average of more than 300 yards per game, and bringing home the 1999 Golden Isles bowl championship.

Lunsford moved to the defensive side of the ball for the 2000 season and his coaching efforts helped GMC rank second nationally in total defense that year. An opportunity to coach on the offense again prompted him to accept an assistant coaching position at Appalachian State where he would coach the tight ends for the 2001 and 2002 seasons.

Married to Tiffany "Tippy" Hyde of Macon in 2002, the Lunsfords have three children, Sophie, Rhett and Josie.

ORLANDO MITJANS, JR.

CORNERBACKS // FOURTH SEASON

With one Eagle cornerback in the NFL and the strong likelihood of more to follow, Orlando Mitjans, Jr., encourages his corners to push themselves to become the best. With a penchant for teaching and passion for coaching, Mitjan employs his calm demeanor to stress critical points both on and off the field.

Mitjans' approach over the last three years has proven to be a winner. In the 2012 season opener, Valdon Cooper snatched his first career interception and ran it back 60 yards for a touchdown. He had his second interception just a few weeks later. A vetran in the defensive backfield, Lavelle Westbrooks added two interceptions to his career total, including a 72-yard return for touchdown against Samford.

Upon arriving in Statesboro in 2010 as part of Coach Monken's staff, Mitjans had a major and immediate impact on the cornerbacks and helped with the development of Laron Scott, a two-time All-American and Southern Conference selection, who is now with the New York Giants. Scott finished his career with nine career interceptions and set a single-season record in 2010 with six picks.

Scott's record performance, combined with the rest of the secondary, helped form the best Georgia Southern pass defense since 2001, when it ranked second in the FCS. The Eagles finished the 2010 season 11th in the nation under the tutelage of Mitjans.

The coaching veteran came to Georgia Southern from Tennessee State where he served as secondary coach. In 2009, the Tigers ranked as the Ohio Valley Conference (OVC) leader in pass defense and finished second in the OVC in total defense.

Mitjans returned to Tennessee State after four years with other programs, including a year at Montgomery Bell Academy in Nashville, Tenn., where he was the co-defensive coordinator and secondary coach. The opportunity at Montgomery Bell Academy cut short his stay at Florida A&M where he was the defensive coordinator and secondary coach during spring ball.

Secondary coach at Eastern Kentucky from March of 2006 through February 2008, Mitjans helped mold a defense that produced an All-American and five All-Conference players. His secondary corps had 24 interceptions in 2007, and was the top-ranked pass defense in the OVC in 2007. The Colonels went on to win the OVC championship that year and three of his four starters were named to the OVC All-Conference team, including Derrick Huff. Huff was selected as the league's defensive player of the year and earned first-team All-America honors.

In his first stop at Tennessee State, Mitjans was assistant head coach and defensive coordinator with the Tigers in 2005. He coached the secondary where Tennessee State led the OVC in pass defense and total defense that season. At Towson University Mitjans started as the Tigers running backs coach in 1999. He took over the secondary in 2001, and was promoted to defensive coordinator in 2004. Mitjans coached two All-Conference tailbacks, Noah Read, who led the Patriot League in rushing, and Jason Corle, the Tigers all-time leading rusher, then helped produce two All-Conference secondary players. In 2002, five of his defensive players earned all-league honors.  $\,$

With a league-leading 21 interceptions in 2003, the Towson secondary set a school record with four returned for touchdowns. The season before, one of Mitjan's senior safeties finished the 2002 season ranked ninth nationally in interceptions.

Mitjans served as secondary coach at Kent State University (1994) and at C.W. Post College (1996) before accepting a similar position at Morgan State in January of 1997. As secondary coach, Mitjans helped his players record 28 takeaways and with five earning All-Conference honors. The following season Mitjans took the defensive coordinator's role and improved Morgan State's performance to a number-15 ranking in the Football Championship Subdivision. Three players he recruited went on to play professional football.

Following his playing career, Mitjans spent two seasons as a student assistant coach at Northeastern University. He landed his first full-time coaching job at Cheyney University when he coached the secondary and coordinated special teams Mitjans was selected to participate in the NFL's minority internship program and had the opportunity to work with secondary coaches and players from NFL teams in Kansas City (2001), St. Louis (1999, 2000) and New York Jets (1994). In 2006, he was chosen as one of 20 coaches nationwide to attend the NCAA Expert Coaching Academy to prepare individuals for head coaching roles.

Through his career, Mitjans has been responsible for the recruitment of several players who have gone to the NFL, including Jermon Bushrod of the New Orleans Saints (Towson), Antwan Molden of the Houston Texans (Eastern Kentucky), the Arizona Cardinals' Dominique Rodgers Cromartie (Tennessee State), Vishante Shiancoe of the New York Giants and Minnesota Vikings (Morgan State), and Jim O'Neil (Towson) who is currently the defensive quality control coach for the New York Jets. Former Tennessee State free safety Anthony Levine was a member of the Baltimore Ravens, the Super Bowl XLVII champions.

A safety on Lou Holtz's Razorback teams from 1978-80, Mitjans transferred to Northeastern and played for the Huskies for his final two years. He graduated from Northeastern in 1982 with a degree in leadership.

Mitjans and his wife, Claire, reside in Statesboro.

TIGHT ENDS // SECOND SEASON

Joining the Georgia Southern Football program in 2011, Sean Saturnio moved to an on-field coaching position tutoring the Eagle tight ends in March of 2012. He also assists offensive coordinator Brent Davis with the offensive line. Establishing the role of the tight end in the triple option offense, Saturnio works with the Eagles on the critical combination of blocking and versatility as a receiver.

Recent Georgia Southern graduate and Eagle tight end Tyler Sumner was one of Saturnio's students on the field. A converted wide receiver, Sumner adapted to the position well and was recognized by Phil Steele Publications for all-Conference honors after the 2012 season. Part of an effective offensive line that helped the Eagles claim their ninth NCAA rushing title with a Division I-best 399.4 yards per game, Sumner had a touchdown reception and averaged 19.0 yards per completion.

Saturnio came to Statesboro after a successful nine-year head coaching career at Waipahu High School. The Hilo, Hawai'i, native led Waipahu to six postseason appearances during his tenure, including a semifinals appearance in the Oahu Interscholastic Association (OIA) White Conference playoffs in his last season.

Saturnio assumed the head coach role at Waipahu after two seasons as an assistant coach for the program and led them to two OIA Division II championships (2006, regular season 2004) and a state (HHSAA) semifinals appearance in 2006. In his first season in 2002 and again in 2008, his Marauder team was one of the last 10 remaining in the playoffs.

During his stint as head coach at Waipahu, he was named the OIA Division I Coach of the Year for the West Division in 2008 and was selected as the OIA Division II Coach of the Year in 2004. Saturnio was also honored four times as the KSSK Coach of the Week.

After graduating from Hilo High School in 1985, Saturnio began his collegiate playing career on the Mainland at Division III Beloit College (Wis.) before transferring to Hawai'i.

A walk-on for the Warriors, he earned a spot on the gameday roster as a wide receiver and graduated with a degree in Elementary Education and a minor in Hawaiian Studies in 1992. During his time at Hawai'i he met both former Eagle Head Coach Paul Johnson and current Head Coach Jeff Monken.

LAMONT SEWARD

RUNNING BACKS // FOURTH SEASON

The Georgia Southern running backs boasted tremendous success last season, helping power the Eagle offense to its second-highest per game rushing average ever (399.4) and ninth NCAA rushing title. Instructing and guiding that talent is Lamont Seward, who enters his fourth season as an assistant coach at Georgia Southern and second campaign as running backs coach. Seward spent his first two seasons on the banks of beautiful Eagle Creek coaching the wide receivers before shifting to his duties with the running backs prior to the start of 2012 spring practice.

During those first two seasons on staff, he worked with quarterbacks coach Mitch Ware to develop one of the nations' most efficent passing offenses. The Eagles ranked second in the nation in 2011 in passing effeciency, while freshman receiver Kentrellis Showers led the team with 15 catches for 258 yards and three touchdowns.

Seward joined Jeff Monken's staff in March 2010 after two seasons as the wide receivers coach at West Georgia. Seward helped install the option offense in his first season and refined the role of the wide receivers. The corps posted efficient numbers in 2010 and were critical to the execution of the developing offense.

With the West Georgia football program as an assistant coach beginning in winter 2008 and through the 2009 fall campaign, Seward worked with the wide receivers and also assisted with the kickoff and punt return teams. Before joining the Wolves, Seward worked two seasons at his alma mater, Western Carolina, starting in 2006 as wide receivers coach. Seward also assisted with the Catamounts' weekly offensive game plans and helped coach the kickoff and punt return teams.

Seward increased the reception totals of thenjuniors Michael Hines and Eddie Cohen, with Cohen going on to claim WCU's single-season record for reception yardage with 1,208. Cohen's 2007 total of nine receiving touchdowns placed him fourth on the single-season chart, and he finished sixth on the WCU career list. Cohen was a two-time selection to the All-Southern Conference in 2006 and 2007.

Seward started his coaching career as an assistant coach and offensive coordinator at Warren County High School. He spent two seasons coaching in his hometown of Warrenton, N.C., before joining the Catamounts.

Selected to the SoCon All-Decade Team (1997-2006), Seward finished his career third on the Catamount and SoCon list for receptions with 190. His 2,972 receiving yards placed him third on the WCU career list and fifth on the SoCon all-time list. Wearing number eight for Western Carolina from 2000-03, Seward caught a pass in 39 consecutive games and recorded at least one reception in 43 of 45 career games. He completed his career with 12 games of 100 receiving yards or more.

Seward graduated in 2003 with a degree in sport management and a minor in marketing from Western Carolina.

He and his wife Bebe reside in Statesboro.

CLIFF YOSHIDA

DIRECTOR OF PLAYER DEVELOPMENT // FIRST SEASON

Building defensive systems as the coordinator at eight collegiate programs, Clifford Yoshida's career spans more than four decades, service at more than 12 schools, and has resulted in untold influence upon hundreds of coaching colleagues and student-athletes. With experience in all areas of the defense, Yoshida joined the coaching staff as a defensive line coach and transitions to his new role as the Georgia Southern program begins its first season transitioning to the Football Bowl Subdivision in 2013.

The coordinator and line coach at Grambling State from 2007-2012, Yoshida helped prepare a defensive unit that worked to disrupt its opponents and those efforts added more hardware to the trophy cases of the storied program. The Tigers won their 14th black college football national championship and two Southwestern Athletic Conference (SWAC) titles in 2008 and 2011 while contending for a third during those six years.

During the 2011 championship run, defense played a key role as the Tigers reeled off seven straight victories and recovered a fumble for the winning touchdown in the title game versus Alabama A&M. Yoshida's 2010 Tiger defense was ranked 20th nationally in scoring defense and 19th in defending the rush as Grambling went 9-2. Defensive tackle Jomarcus Savage and linebacker Cliff Exama gained the attention of opponents as ambassadors of Yoshida's disciplined, but aggressive defense.

Yoshida also tutored the SWAC's best defensive player in Christian Anthony in 2009 as the dominant end was third in both sacks and tackles for loss and ranked among the nation's top players. The 2008 defense improved upon already impressive rankings in total and scoring defense from the year before, holding its opponents to only 170 points (13.07 per game), the lowest Tiger total allowed since 1985. Two early losses, one at the hands of Colin Kaepernick and Nevada and other to Northwestern State, with co-defensive coordinators Jack Curtis and Kevin Corless, were the only marks on that 11-win conference and black national college football championship campaigm.

After the 2006 season, Yoshida left North Carolina Central for Grambling State with Coach Rod Broadway to again serve in the defensive coordinator's role. In four years with NCCU as D.C., he helped turn around a program that had limited success into one that posted double-digit wins for the first, and second time ever, and won the black college national football championship in 2006.

The defensive coordinator at Towson while current Eagle cornerbacks coach Orlando Mitjans, Jr., served on the Tigers' staff, Yoshida spent one year with the program before accepting the defensive coordinator position at North Carolina Central. Yoshida added the North Carolina recruiting area to his responsibilities the year before when he became associate head coach and defensive coordinator for North Carolina A&T in 2002.

Yoshida was part of five bowl games and an emotional 1999 season during his eight years at East Carolina from 1994-2001. The Pirates racked up postseason wins over Texas Tech and Stanford, but one of the most memorable victories may have been a come-from-behind upset of No. 9 Miami in Raleigh after Hurricane Floyd flooded much of the eastern half of the state. The Pirates picked up signature wins over West Virginia and N.C. State that season, running off five straight to rise as high as 16th in the Associated Press poll.

The 1996 ECU team had made a mark on Miami once before as well, posting a 31-6 win over the Hurricanes, their worst loss in the Orange Bowl in 12 seasons. Yoshida guided the defensive line from for the six years from 1994-99 before taking over the responsibilities as ECU's recruiting coordinator for two additional seasons.

Prior to joining East Carolina as the Pirates' defensive line coach, Yoshida was the defensive coordinator with responsibilities for the defensive line at Southern University. In the 1993 season, the Jaguar defense helped propel the team to an 11-1 record, a first-ever Southwestern Athletic Conference Championship and the program's first black college football national championship since 1960.

At Duke, Yoshida showed his versatility, coaching the defensive line in his first two years, then working with the defensive backfield in 1980 before his promotion to defensive coordinator for the 1981 season. He then joined Coach Bill Dooley's Virginia Tech staff, coaching the defensive line for five seasons, and helped build success in Blacksburg, Va. The final season with the Hokies in 1986 culminated with a 10-1-1 record, including a bowl win over N.C. State, and a national ranking.

Yoshida returned to Wake Forest in 1987 with Coach Bill Dooley, and spent six years on the coaching staff as defensive line coach. During that tenure, the Demon Deacons produced the most wins since the coaching days of legend D.C. "Peahead" Walker (1937-50). The 1992 Wake team, which included current Georgia Southern Athletic Director Tom Kleinlein, beat Oregon in dramatic fourth-quarter fashion in the Independence Bowl to cap an 8-4 season and earn a top-25 ranking in the final polls.

A position as defensive coordinator and linebackers coach at Wake brought Yoshida back to the East Coast once before. His first stay in Winston-Salem lasted from 1973-78 after he had spent his early coaching years at Utah State and his alma mater, California State Polytechnic University in Pomona, Calif. Yoshida lettered for three years with the Broncos at guard and linebacker and earned team MVP honors as a senior. He was honored as the Cal Poly Pomona Athlete of the Year at the end of that academic year.

After receiving his Bachelor of Science in Physical Education, Yoshida continued with graduate studies and then joined the United States Marine Corps. Attaining the rank of captain, Yoshida was a platoon and company commander, serving his country for five years. He also played at offensive guard for the Quantico Marines Football team.

A number of Yoshida's former student-athletes have gone on to professional football careers, with several recognized for their accomplishments on the field. Bruce Smith, the winner of the 1984 Outland Trophy at Virginia Tech, was the top pick of the Buffalo Bills and inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in his first year of eligibility. Smith, Michael McCrary (Baltimore Ravens/Wake Forest), and Rod Coleman (Atlanta Falcons/East Carolina) all earned All-Pro honors and were Pro Bowl selections.

Four of those men, McCrary (Baltimore Ravens, Super Bowl XXXV), DeVone Claybrooks (Tampa Bay, Super Bowl XXXVII/East Carolina), Jay Williams (St. Louis Rams, Super Bowl XXXIV/Wake Forest) and Walter Scott (Green Bay, Super Bowl XXXI/East Carolina) have the distinguished honor of winning Super Bowl Rings. Smith, along with Coleman (Oakland) and Jason Banks (Arizona) were on conference championship teams, but did not come away with a ring.

ALL-AMERICANS

Georgia Southern's All-Americans represent more than the 75 men who have earned national recognitionfor their talents. These Eagles, with more than 158 All-America honors shared among them, are the first to give credit to their teammates - the others on the field who pushed them to excel, challenged them to rise above their competitors, and who helped Georgia Southern to victory. At least one individual has appeared at least one All-America list in 26 of the 29 years of the modern era of Georgia Southern Football.

With honorees at every position, our All-Americans have added to the tradition of the Georgia Southern. Their efforts and dedication have built a solid foundation on which the next era of Eagle Football may be built.

Georgia Southern 27, Jackson State 0

— First Round — Nov. 30 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Tracy Ham and Tony Belser connected on two long touchdown passes to lead Georgia Southern to a 27-0 win over Jackson State. Ham hit Belser on a 48-yard pass early in the first quarter and a 45-yarder early in the fourth quarter to seal the victory. The defense recorded its second shutout of 1985.

The Eagles held Jackson State to just 105 yards on the ground and forced five turnovers on the afternoon, including four interceptions of Tiger quarterback Shannon Boyd. Sophomore cornerback Nay Young recorded two of those pickoffs and three pass breakups. His 43-yard return to the JSU 26-yard line on the first theft set up fullback Gerald Harris' one-yard plunge to make the score 17-0.

Georgia Southern 28, Middle Tennessee State 21

— Quarterfinals — Dec. 7 — Johnny Floyd Stadium, Murfreesboro, Tenn.

Georgia Southern scored 21 unanswered points and then held off a Middle Tennessee rally to upset the nation's No. 1-ranked team. Gerald Harris rushed for 148 yards and Tracy Ham passed for 125 yards to lead the Eagles. Defensively, Nay Young had two key interceptions to stop the Blue Raiders. The win avenged a 35-10 loss to MTSU earlier in the season.

Young's second interception of the game and fourth of the playoffs stopped the Blue Raiders deep in Georgia Southern territory late in the contest. Earlier, Young stopped an MTSU drive at the Eagle 14-yard line with 10 seconds remaining in the first half to preserve a 21-0 GSU lead at intermission.

Georgia Southern 40, Northern Iowa 33

— Semifinals — Dec. 14 — UNI Dome, Cedar Falls, Iowa

Gerald Harris rushed for 178 yards and Tracy Ham added 157 to pace the Eagles. The game had eight touchdowns and five field goals. Over 1,000 yards were amassed by the two teams and 52 first downs were recorded. There were eight lead changes in the game and only four punts in one of Georgia Southern's wildest games ever.

The Eagles rolled up 436 yards on the ground, averaging nearly nine yards per carry. Junior safety Brad Bowen picked off two Panther passes and broke up another, while recording nine tackles. Senior linebacker Charles Carper added 12 tackles.

ERK'S EAGLES HAVE LANDED!

Then came quarter No. 3 and the Eagles ripped off 25 unanswered points. Georgia Southern scored on its first four possessions to grab a 38-21 advantage with 5:00 remaining. The barrage was capped by Raymond Gross' nifty swing pass to Darryl Hopkins, who went 64 yards. Southern added 14 points in the fourth quarter. Second team fullback Lester Efford gained a career best 123 yards on 21 carries. He replaced starter Joe Ross late in the first quarter. Ross picked up 34 yards on 10 attempts before a right knee injury forced him to the sidelines.

Georgia Southern 31, The Citadel 0

- First Round - Nov. 24 - Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

The Eagles limited The Citadel to eight second half yards in a 31-0 first round rout of the Bulldogs. As The Citadel's potent wishbone attack came to a screeching halt, GSU broke open a 10-0 halftime advantage with a 35 yard scoring pass from Raymond Gross to Terence Sorrell and TD runs by Karl Miller and Lester Efford. Gross completed 10-of-13 passes for 173 yards. Joe Ross led all rushers with 84 yards on 23 carries and scored Southern's first TD.

After the Gross to Sorrel pass capped Southern's initial series of the second half, Kevin Whitley intercepted a Jack Douglas pass at the GSU 48. Miller highlighted a 52-yard, 8-play drive with a 20-yard scoring run. Efford's seven yard effort topped an eight play, 72-yard scoring drive.

Georgia Southern 28, Idaho 27

— Quarterfinals — Dec. 1 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Middle linebacker Eugene Hayes' recovery of a fumble at the Eagle 23 yard line with 2:27 remaining halted a possible game winning Idaho drive and Georgia Southern escaped with a 28-27 quarterfinal win over the Vandals.

After the Eagles took a seemingly commanding 21-7 lead with 53 seconds left in the first half on a 3-yard TD run by Raymond Gross, Idaho countered with 17 unanswered points for a 24-21 advantage. Gross connected with Karl Miller from nine yards out late in the third quarter for what proved to be the deciding points.

GSU surrendered a season high 528 yards total offense. Vandal quarterback Steve Nolan riddled the Eagle defense with 372 yards on a then-stadium record 32 completions (43 attempts), while Roman Carter led all rushers with 124 yards on 23 carries. Idaho passed the Eagle 30-yard line on three of its first four possessions but came away empty.

Georgia Southern 44, Central Florida 7

— Semifinals — Dec. 8 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

A swarming defense slammed the door on Central Florida in the second half while the offense ripped off 35 unanswered points as GSU coasted in the semifinals.

The Knights took an overdose of Southern's defensive front, whose pressure forced 10 sacks. UCF also saw enough of quarterback Raymond Gross, who threw for two touchdowns in the decisive second half.

Georgia Southern limited Central Florida to 81 yards total offense in the second half. The Knights generated just six rushing yards and 75 passing yards in the game's final 30 minutes. Joe Ross led all rushers with 72 yards while Karl Miller covered a career high 111 yards on five catches.

Eagles Claim Fourth I-AA Title
Dec. 15 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

GSU: CHAMPIONS AGAIN

STATESBORO, Ga. - Quarterback Raymond Gross rushed for a game-high 145 yards and the Georgia Southern defense rose to the occasion with a crucial goal line stand early in the third quarter as the Eagles captured their fourth national championship in six years. Trailing 14-6 to open the second half, Nevada drove 74 yards in 14 plays to the Eagle 1-yard line. The Wolfpack was stuffed on four consecutive plays before Kevin McKelvie missed a 24-yard field goal. GSU answered with a pair of Darryl Hopkins touchdown runs to take a comfortable 27-6 lead midway through the final period. After Hopkins' contributions, the Eagles added a 41-yard Mike Dowis field goal and closed the contest when true freshman defensive end Alex Mash returned a Chris Vargas pass 15 yards for a touchdown.

Georgia Southern 72, Northern Arizona 29

- First Round - Nov. 27 - Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Greg Hill ran for four touchdowns and threw for two more as second seeded Georgia Southern routed 15th-seeded Northern Arizona 72-29 in the opening round of the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs. The senior quarterback had 206 yards rushing and scored on runs of five, 10, 32 and 73 yards. He was 4-of-6 passing for 100 yards and connected with Dedric Parham on a 13 yard score and Andre Weathers on a 73-yard bomb.

After a 7-7 deadlock at the end of the opening quarter, the Eagles exploded for 23 unanswered points to take a 30-14 halftime lead. Southern outscored the Lumberjacks 42-15 in the final half, including a 21-0 run in the third quarter, for the win

GSU fullback Adrian Peterson rushed for 134 yards and scored on a one yard plunge. Georgia Southern set a then-new I-AA playoff record with 568 rushing yards and a school record with the most points in a post season game ever.

Georgia Southern 38, Massachusetts 21

— Quarterfinals — Dec. 4 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Adrian Peterson rushed for 333 yards on 32 carries and scored five touchdowns as second seeded Georgia Southern downed Massachusetts 38-21 in the NCAA Division I-AA quarterfinals.

The sophomore fullback's performance set a new NCAA Division I-AA playoff rushing record, shattering the previous mark of 250 yards by Northeast Louisiana's Greg Robinson in 1992. Peterson, who battled a severe chest cold all afternoon, had three 25-yard touchdown runs as well as a three-yarder and a nine-yarder.

Georgia Southern (10-2) took a slim 10-7 lead at halftime but outscored the Minutemen (9-4) 21-14 in the second half to secure the victory and successfully avenge a 55-43 loss to UMass in the 1998 National Championship game. The Eagles, who surrendered 303 rushing yards to the Minutemen in 1998, allowed just 81 ground yards on 37 attempts - an average of just 2.2 yards per rush.

Georgia Southern 28, Illinois State 17

— Semifinals — Dec. 11 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Adrian Peterson rushed for 183 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead Georgia Southern to a 28-17 victory over Illinois State in the Division I-AA semifinals. The win enabled the Eagles to advance to the I-AA National Championship game for the seventh time in 15 years.

Peterson scored on runs of one and two yards late in the second quarter to break a 7-7 tie and added a 10-yarder in the fourth to clinch the victory. The 1999 Walter Payton Award winner also surpassed the 100 yard rushing mark for the 29th consecutive time.

Georgia Southern held the Redbirds to 69 yards rushing while rolling up 363. Eagle quarterback Greg Hill rushed for 80 yards and one touchdown. He also was 3-of-7 passing for 76 yards and one interception.

MISSION ACCOMPLISHED

Eagles Capture Unprecedented Fifth National Title Dec. 18 — Finley Stadium, Chattanooga, Tenn.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. - Georgia Southern waited a year to redeem itself in the Division I-AA championship. Once the game started, the Eagles ended the suspense by halftime.

Adrian Peterson rushed for a championship game-record 247 yards on 25 carries and scored three touchdowns as Georgia Southern scored 28 unanswered points in the second quarter and routed Youngstown State 59-24 becoming the first team to win five I-AA titles. The Walter Payton Award winner scored on runs of 3, 22 and 1 yards. Youngstown State, which came in with a defense that had been giving up just 166 yards rushing per game, couldn't contain I-AA's best rushing offense. The Eagles got 210 of their record-638 yards rushing in the second quarter and finished with 655 yards of offense compared to 338 for Youngstown State.

The Penguins kept pace with Georgia Southern by scoring on their first two drives. Then Peterson got Georgia Southern going - putting the Eagles ahead to stay at 14-10 with 10:25 left in the second quarter on his first TD of the game.

It was a showdown between I-AA's two best teams. Youngstown State had won more games (100) than any other I-AA program this decade and Georgia Southern came in with more playoff victories than any other I-AA program. The two programs also came in with four I-AA championships each.

Georgia Southern 42, McNeese State 17

- First Round - Nov. 25 - Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Georgia Southern scored 21 unanswered points in the third quarter to break away from McNeese State and rolled to a 42-17 win in the opening round.

Adrian Peterson rushed for a season-high 203 yards and one touchdown after a near-month layoff. Andre Weathers added touchdown runs of 23 and 19 yards while J.R. Revere rushed for 157 yards and two scores and was 6-of-13 through the air for 110 yards with one TD. In all, GSU amassed 589 yards of total offense including 479 on the ground.

After trailing 17-14 at the half, Revere engineered a 12-play, 75 yard drive which gave the Eagles a 21-17 lead at the 9:57 mark. Weathers took an option pitch for a 23-yard score five plays after he had converted a crucial fourth-downand-four situation at the Eagle 43-yard line to keep the drive alive.

Georgia Southern 48, Hofstra 20

— Quarterfinals — Dec. 2 — Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro

Georgia Southern scored on six of its first nine possessions to build a 38-3 lead midway through the third quarter and turned in one of its top defensive performances of the season to blow past Hofstra 48-20 in the I-AA quarterfinals.

Adrian Peterson rushed for a game-high 146 yards while Mark Myers added 116 yards on just seven carries (16.6 ypr). In addition, J.R. Revere opened the scoring with three straight TD runs and finished with 186 total yards.

The Eagle defense held the vaunted Pride run-n-shoot offense to 65 first half passing yards and three points.

GSU ran for 430 yards, the most allowed by Hofstra since 1998, and recorded the highest point total (48) against The Pride in eight years.

Georgia Southern 27, Delaware 18

— Semifinals — Dec. 9 — Delaware Stadium, Newark, Del.

Adrian Peterson rushed for 198 yards and a touchdown on a career-high 34 carries while Delaware failed to capitalize on four turnovers as the Eagles posted a 27-18 road victory in the NCAA I-AA semifinals. The win allowed the Eagles to advance to the I-AA National Championship game for the third consecutive year and for the eighth time in 16 years.

Andre Weathers added 122 rushing yards on just four carries yards and set up a late insurance field goal with a 58-yard scamper on a third-and-nine call from the GSU 22-yard line. The Eagles piled up 381 yards on the ground against a normally-stingy Blue Hen defense that was allowing just 109.8 ypg coming into the game

Delaware was also hurt by three missed field goals by Scott Collins, including a 32-yarder and a 22-yarder that were blocked in the second quarter by Jason Neese and Carlton Oglesby, respectively.

Peterson's Run Halts Grizzly Comeback Hopes Dec. 16 — Finley Stadium, Chattanooga, Tenn.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. - Adrian Peterson rushed for 148 yards and Georgia Southern withstood a fourth quarter rally by Montana to win the 2000 NCAA I-AA National Championship 27-25 at Finley Stadium. The national championship is the second straight for Georgia Southern and its sixth in school history. With a 20-3 lead midway through the third quarter, Georgia Southern's national championship hopes appeared solid. But Montana scored on three consecutive possessions to take a 23-20 lead. The Eagles answered on their first play from scrimmage when Peterson broke-off tackle for 57 yards and a touchdown to put GSU back in front, 27-23. Ryan Hadden ended one Montana drive in the fourth quarter with an interception while two other drives ended in loss of downs. In addition to Peterson's rushing efforts, quarterback J.R. Revere completed five of eight passes for 113 yards. Georgia Southern built its 20-3 lead on a fumble recovery in the end zone by James McCoy that gave the Eagles a 7-0 lead just 1:41 into the game. Revere then hit Chris Johnson with a 49-yard scoring pass late in the first quarter for a 13-0 advantage. After a Montana field goal cut the lead to 13-3, Peterson scored the first of his two touchdowns on a one yard run just 33 seconds before halftime.

After the Eagles scored first, a safety by Michael Butler on a kickoff return and fumble return for a touchdown by Josh Gebhardt added to Georgia Southern's first quarter lead. Gebhardt picked off a pass later in the game to set up the Eagles' final touchdown.

Georgia Southern 31, William & Mary 15 (Round of 16) Dec. 4, Zable Stadium, Williamsburg, Va.

Quarterback Jaybo Shaw tied a career-best with three rushing touchdowns and freshman fullback Robert Brown ran for a career-best 178 yards as the Eagles won their first road playoff game since the 2000 national championship season.

Down 15-14 at the half, Georgia Southern scored on its first drive of the third quarter to retake the lead, keyed by a 44-yard carry down the sideline by Darreion Robinson on the first play of the possession. Adrian Mora hit a 21-yard field goal to put the score at 24-15, Georgia Southern.

Georgia Southern 23, Wofford 20 (Quarterfinal) Dec. 11, Gibbs Stadium, Spartanburg, S.C.

With six fumbles earlier in the game, Wofford scratched its way back in the second half and returned a Georgia Southern fumble for a touchdown with 5:13 left in the game to pull within three, 23-20.

Three straight scores by Georgia Southern gave the Eagles a 17-0 lead early in the second quarter with the first two touchdowns resulting from two Terrier turnovers in the first period. The Terriers and Eagles traded field goals in the last 65 seconds of the first half as Wofford put its first points on the board for a 20-3 score in favor of Georgia Southern.

Delaware 27, Georgia Southern 10 (Semifinal) Dec. 18, Delaware, Newark, Del.

A streak of six wins and Georgia Southern's incredible run through the NCAA FCS playoffs ended at Delaware Stadium where the Eagles fell 27-10 to the fifth-ranked Blue Hens. It was the first appearance in the semifinals for Georgia Southern since 2002.

A 53-yard run by freshman Jerick McKinnon from the slotback position on the Eagles' first drive of the second half set up a 40-yard field goal by Adrian Mora to put GSU within a touchdown. On the Eagles' next possession, Delaware's defense recovered a fumble and the Blue Hen offense turned the miscue into a 14-point advantage, 17-3.

A Robert Brown up-and-over touchdown on Georgia Southern's opening drive in the fourth quarter pulled the Eagles within a touchdown, 17-10. A 30-yard kickoff return and two long plays put the Blue Hens at the Georgia Southern seven-yard line. Delaware extended its lead to 24-10 and then added a field goal after getting the ball back on a turnover deep in Georgia Southern territory.

2012 - NATIONAL SEMIFINALIST

Georgia Southern 24, Central Arkansas 16 (Round of 16) Dec. 1, Allen E. Paulson Stadium, Statesboro, Ga.

The Georgia Southern defense clamped down on Central Arkansas and Jerick McKinnon led the Eagles with two touchdowns and 316 rushing yards, second-most in school history, for the 24-16 win. McKinnon's total broke the school record for rushing yards in a single game by a quarterback and was just 17 yards shy of tying Adrian Peterson's record 333-yard rushing total vs. UMass from 1999.

The Eagles scored on four straight possessions, all in the first half, with McKinnon rushing for an early 57-yard touchdown, the first of three, to give the Georgia Southern a lead it would not relinquish. Georgia Southern's defense allowed only one touchdown for the game, off a third-quarter drive, which ended the scoring for the Bears. J.J. Wilcox led the defense with seven tackles and had a 39-yard kickoff return that put the Eagles in position for their second score, a 55-yard drive capped by a 32-yard touchdown reception by Darreion Robinson.

Central Arkansas settled for three field goals in the first half and scored its only touchdown in the third after an Eagle interception deep in Bear territory put the ball on the UCA 41. Neither team scored in the remainder of the game with the Bears crossing midfield twice in the fourth quarter, but not coming close to entering the red zone.

Georgia Southern 49, Old Dominion 35 (Round of 16) Dec. 8, Ballard Stadium/Foreman Field, Norfolk, Va.

With 28 unanswered points in the fourth quarter, Georgia Southern defeated Old Dominion 49-35 at Ballard Stadium to advance to the NCAA FCS Semifinals for the third straight year. The duo combined for 357 of Georgia Southern's 602 total rushing yards.

The Monarchs, leading 35-28 in the fourth quarter, were just 13 yards away taking a two-touchdown lead when Dion DuBose sacked ODU quarter-back Taylor Heinicke on a third-and-seven play. Freshman linebacker Patrick Flowe pounced on the ensuing fumble and the Eagles capitalized on the miscue, driving 79 yards with McKinnon and William Banks leading them down the field to tie the score at 35.

The high-octane contest featured three lead changes, three ties and 1,166 yards of total offense. Old Dominion struck first for a 7-0 lead, but the Eagles scored two straight touchdowns, one by McKinnon and another by Swope for a 14-7 lead early in the second quarter. After a missed GSU field goal, Old Dominion scored three straight touchdowns to take a 28-14 advantage. Tray Butler picked up an Eagle fumble in the endzone to bring the Eagles within seven points, but ODU scored its second touchdown of the third quarter for a 35-21 lead.

At the end of third quarter, McKinnon, Butler and Swope set up McKinnon's keeper to bring the Eagles back to a one-touchdown deficit, 35-28 before the ODU fumble that set up Georgia Southern's score-tying drive. John Stevenson's hurry of Heinicke stalled the Monarchs' drive and gave the ball back to Georgia Southern at the ODU 39 with 5:26 left in the game. Three plays later, the Eagles had retaken the lead 42-35 on a Swope touchdown, and on the first play of next ODU's possession, Wilcox came up with an interception. He accounted for another touchdown, connecting with Dominque Swope for a 49-yard score in the second quarter. J.J. # HOME-FIELD ADVANTAGE

[GEORGIA SOUTHERN TAKES DOWN ANOTHER TOP-RANKED TEAM WITH A 2005 WIN OVER FURMAN]

The Georgia Southern defense held top-ranked and previously undefeated Appalachian State scoreless in the second half, then recovered a Mountaineer fumble in overtime for a 21-14 victory at Paulson Stadium in 2010. The November 6th win ended ASU's 26-game Southern Conference win streak dating back to 2007 and helped position the Eagles for a playoff berth.
